First prize for the most beautiful garden went to Mrs. L. McLaughlin. Mrs. Evans was second and commendations went to Mrs. Sandiland and J. Coles.

For the most improved garden, Mrs. G. Neale was the winner. Mrs. R. B. Hald second, with W. Laidlaw and D. Bellamy commended.

Judges for the competition were Mrs. F. Reede, Rev. E. M. Cook and Dr. Verchere.

During the evening Professor E. M. Straight of the Experimental Farm at Sidney gave an interesting talk on "Culture of Vegetables," paying particular attention to the cultivation of tropical varieties, including melons.

Refreshments were later served under the convership of Mrs. Clement. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Sandiland on October 12.

Arms Race Drains Golden Life-blood of "Civilized" Nations

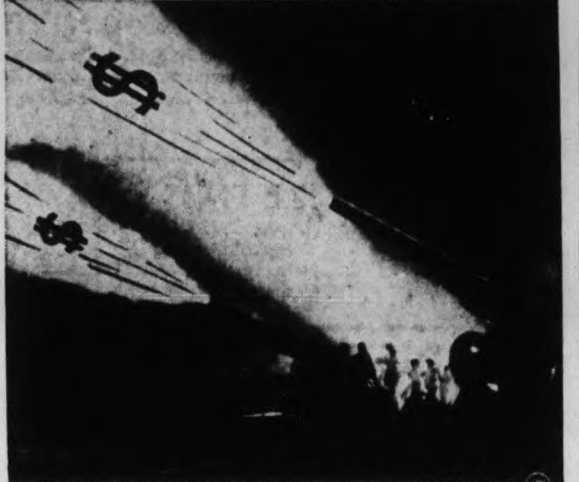

LONDON—Every time, day and night, your watch ticks to show the passing of a single second, each of the big nations of the world has spent upon armaments sometimes a man's whole daily wage, sometimes a whole week's wages.

This is the appalling situation 20 years after the finish of the war to end wars. The world apparently learned nothing from that awful conflict. It is estimated that in 1937 the world spent upon armaments nearly three times as much as was spent in 1913. And in that year 1913 men predicted there would be a world war because nations could not be draining their financial life blood away endlessly upon and $2,500,000,000 by the rest of the world outside Europe. Of the 64 countries whose expenditures are given in the above figures in 1937, seven great "civilized" nations spent 56 per cent of these vast sums. Between 1932 and 1937 Europe increased its expenditures on armaments by 80 per cent while the rest of the world increased by 57 per cent.

The great difficulty nowadays in estimating what is being spent upon armaments is the secrecy totalitarian states are enabled to maintain.

In most democratic countries this is impossible. Budgets have to be submitted to Parliaments and expenditures have to be detailed by cabinet officials, and arms without seeking to make use of them.

Those flashing blasts from big guns are expensive... in 1937 the nations of the world earmarked over seven billion golden dollars for war.

DISARMAMENT FAILED

In 1932 a last despairing effort was made, under the auspices of the League of Nations, to bring about some measures of disarmament. It was a ghastly failure. Each year after that the expenditures on armaments rose and rose without cease. Here is the tale, which shows why people are groaning under tax burdens (when they are allowed to groan)—something forbidden in totalitarian states):

Year	Expenditure ($ billions)
1932	$4,300,000,000
1933	4,500,000,000
1934	5,100,000,000
1935	5,600,000,000
1936	5,800,000,000
1937	7,100,000,000

The figures given are in gold dollars. For the year 1937, $4,600,000,000 was spent by Europe then approved by the legislators. It is thus that Great Britain is known to have embarked upon a five-year rearmament program which is to cost $7,500,000,000.

BILLIONS FOR MUNITIONS

The latest figures on armament budgets for some of the larger nations obtainable by the League of Nations division which studies these matters, are given below. Comparison is made for the years 1937 and 1932:

Country	1937 ($ billions)	1932 ($ billions)
Belgium	$48,537,720	$32,643,468
Great Britain	$1,274,546,000	$429,754,500
Czechoslovakia	$91,948,150	$55,991,730
France	$260,292,000	$270,546,250
Italy	$313,267,500	$248,941,800
Japan	$313,267,500	$284,941,800
United States	$993,200,000	$641,600,000 (estimated, 1937-38)

The last figures given on Germany were 617,000,000 marks for the year 1931-32 and 894,300,000 marks for the year 1934-35. They have probably gone soaring far ahead of that since. The figures for 1937 for France apparently show a decrease, but there was probably a very large increase covered by supplemental budgets.

POSSIBILITY OF SOCIAL WELFARE

It has been estimated that, if the world had really gone the limit in disarmament, the money spent on arms in the past five years could have been used in doing away with all slums, erecting magnificent hospitals and clinics, creating great public parks and recreation grounds, new and modern schools, splendid municipally-owned apartment houses for people with a modest wage—and at the same time the taxes upon the peoples of the world could have been greatly reduced.

City Council Briefs

John Day's request for a recorded vote by the City Council on the stand of various members in regard to his request for an undertaking by the city not to tax costs against him if he carried to the Supreme Court of Canada an appeal on the refunding act, was received and filed by the unanimous consent of the mayor and aldermen last night. Mr. Day stated he wished to complete the test of the legislation but stated the person who had offered to post the required bond for the appeal wanted insurance against its confiscation if the Day action failed. Mr. Day suggested that a release from cost claims be given him. The question had been settled by the highest court in British Columbia and it would be the height of folly for the city to guarantee costs to the appellant, Alderman Lloyd Morgan declared as the council turned down the Day request. Alderman Morgan noted a further appeal might help someone to secure a trip but that he was satisfied with the ruling handed down by the Court of Appeal here.

Sale of two properties, one on the northeast corner of Northcott Street and Burleigh Crescent and the other on the southwest corner of Kings and Fernwood Roads for $200 cash in each case was approved on the recommendation of the lands committee.

Purchase of a new pump at a cost of $112.50, recommended by the city engineer, was approved.

Demolition of three structures on the westerly extremity of Washington Avenue, was ordered on the suggestion of the city sanitary engineer. Later the council approved a further demolition recommendation for premises on the southwest corner of Johnson and Quadra Streets.

Payment of $1,000 to the Royal Trust Company to cover taxes on the Esquimalt Waterworks was ordered.

With the assurance that provision had been made for the employment of local labor in all but key positions, the City Council approved the public works committee's report calling for the acceptance of the tender of the E. R. Taylor construction company, Ltd. for improvements to Pandora Avenue. The work will cost approximately $20,668, that figure being the maximum. The city engineer will be judge of key positions and will see that labor clauses in the contract are observed. Following approval of the report, Alderman James Adam asked why Pandora was being improved and the Dardanelles ignored. Costs of the latter would be prohibitive, he was informed.

A no-park area on the easterly side of Langley Street, 27 feet north from Bastion Street, was created and cutting of an oak tree in front of 1610 Belmont Avenue ordered on the public works committee's recommendation.

Considerable attention was being given by fire chiefs of North America to the means of preventing conflagration which might result from an aerial bombardment. Alderman Archie Willis told the council in a brief report on the conference of fire chiefs at Salt Lake City last week. He referred to the manner in which present day rapid transportation had caused the world to shrink and pointed to the vulnerability of the Pacific Northwest in case of such an attack. Methods used in Europe to cope with such a situation were being studied, the alderman said.

Approval was given a request from the police commission asking the council to call for tenders for policemen's trousers and overcoats.

A letter from the electrical workers' union raising question over hours of work for city electrical department officials, was referred to the lights committee.

The council extended for another month its agreement with the B.C. Electric Railway Company Ltd. for the use of the Goldstream plant and referred to the franchise committee a letter from the company asking for a definite statement of its intentions on that matter.

Butter Price Fixed In Great Britain

OTTAWA (CP)—The Department of Agriculture announced it had received word from London yesterday that fixed prices for two weeks had been set in the United Kingdom on cheese and butter.

Another cable said the British government had also requested the trade to see there were no increases in the prices of bacon, hams or lard for at least two weeks.

Manion to Carry Reform Fight Into St. James St.

Tory Leader Pleased With Public Response To Radical Speeches

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD
OTTAWA—Dr. R. J. Manion, recently-elected chieftain of the National Conservative Party, has no intention whatever of "backing down" in respect to the reform policies with which he allegedly has antagonized the reactionary "big interests" among the federal Tories.

Instead, the new chieftain's next move in his leadership may be a dramatic visit to the very stronghold of "big interests" conservatism itself, namely, Montreal.

Plans are now under consideration, circles close to Dr. Manion reveal, to have the new leader demonstrate his sincerity for reform by literally invading St. James Street and proclaiming there the doctrine for which the monied Conservatives have been contending that he lacks any authorization from the Conservative platform.

SATISFIED WITH RESPONSE

With the international situation occupying the centre of the stage in Canada as elsewhere, Dr. Manion is refraining from any comment at the present time which might add issues of domestic politics to the worries with which the government is faced. Those who are closest to him declare, however, that the new Tory chieftain is thoroughly satisfied with the reception which the country has shown to his enunciation of a reform policy and that he intends to continue to make the cry for reform the rallying slogan of his campaign.

St. James Street opposition, which poses as the authentic opposition of conservatism itself, is said to be leaving the new leader wholly unworried. He takes the attitude that the greatest number of votes do not lie in St. James Street, but outside it, and that if he is displeasing the money barons there is a fair chance that he may be appealing to the rank and file of the people who elect governments.

Dr. Manion is understood to have derived, furthermore, a definite tonic effect from his recent tour of the Maritime provinces. He spoke in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, and in all three provinces he was well received. He enunciated policies for the relief of the distressed mining and fishing classes of the population, and the reaction which he has secured by way of pledges of support from those who heard him is described as having been of a most gratifying nature. The new chieftain is said to hold high hopes for a swing back into the Conservative column by the Maritime voters when the next election is held.

AWAITING BY-ELECTIONS

At the moment, Dr. Manion's leadership is in a state of indecision, for which federal liberalism is directly and as the Conservatives allege—deliberately responsible. The government has refrained somewhat unaccountably from making any announcement as yet of the by-elections which are pending, one of which the new Tory chieftain will have to contest in order to secure a seat in the House of Commons.

The result of the government's failure to do anything definite about by-elections is to hamstring fairly effectively Dr. Manion's leadership efforts. The new Tory chieftain wants to make a tour of western Canada at the earliest moment possible. He naturally does not wish, however, to undertake a speaking tour through to the Pacific Coast, land in the midst of his engagements, and then have the Liberal government "spring" the by-elections and upset his program.

Consequently, Dr. Manion at the moment is doing little more than marking time, except for the arrangements for his spectacular sortie into Montreal, which are well under way and may materialize in the near future. After that the next step will be the by-elections campaign—unless the government should persist in a position which has already become largely unjustifiable and continue to postpone them. Then there will be the mission to the prairies and to the Pacific Coast. After that there will be the session of the Commons—and Dr. Manion's baptism of fire as a party leader in Parliament.

Manning Doherty Dies in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Manning Doherty, 62, Minister of Agriculture in Ontario United Farmers' government from 1919 to 1923, died yesterday.

Mr. Doherty was defeated in his native Peel County when he ran for the Ontario Legislature in 1919, but the U.F.O. Party formed a government and Premier E. C. Drury appointed Mr. Doherty as Minister of Agriculture. The minister found a seat in Kent East. Later he was leader of the U.F.O. Party for a short time.

Head of the brokerage firm of Doherty, Roadhouse and Company of Toronto since 1930, Mr. Doherty was in ill-health for the last two months.

His son, Brian Doherty, wrote the play, "Father Malachy's Miracle," which ran successfully in New York last year.

Will Increase Hospital Room

CHEMAMUS—Enlargement of the Chemamus Hospital to meet anticipated increases in winter needs in now under consideration it was reported at the regular meeting of the women's auxiliary.

A new waiting room is under construction to accommodate the two doctors in charge at the hospital and it is felt there will be a need during the winter for extra rooms. It was reported the hospital had been full during the summer at a time when it was usually only partly occupied.

Reports of visiting committees were received for July and August and Mrs. Mainwaring reported on the Cancer Club meeting during the summer.

Use of hospital silver by outside organizations was discussed and it was decided it would be loaned only on condition it was signed for and the respective organizations became responsible for losses.

MAY CANCEL TOUR

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Whiteman's manager, Paul Winbush, said yesterday that Whiteman's contracts for appearances in Canada October 6, 7 and 8 contained clauses providing for cancellation in the event of war in Europe. The clauses were included, he said, at the client's request. The engagements with Whiteman are in Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto.

Spencer Club Banquet Held

Henry Street Elected President at Annual Meeting Last Night

Henry Street was unanimously elected president of the Spencer's Sports and Social Club at the fifth annual banquet in Spencer's dining-room last evening. Mr. Street succeeded T. A. Tadman in the new office.

Approximately 225 stern employees, members of the club, were present, with the local store head, J. W. Spencer, as guest of honor. In addition to brief addresses and reports, there was a well-rounded program of entertainment provided.

The members and guests were welcomed by Mr. Tadman who reviewed the various activities of the organization. W. Wightman and W. B. Grant replied briefly to the welcome address.

In speaking to the gathering, Mr. Spencer stressed the fact that the retail business was one of the most important in the world today. He said that retail workers should not take second place to any class of people anywhere. Mr. Spencer also complimented the club on its good fellowship and told of its organization five years ago, under the guidance of T. Ross.

OTHER OFFICERS ELECTED

In addition to the naming of Mr. Street as new president, elected to their respective offices, by acclamation were: Vic Simmons, first vice-president; Miss Sadie Underwood, second vice-president; Miss Kay Elston, secretary for the second year, and Les Bradley, treasurer.

Mr. Street spoke briefly and asked for co-operation from the members in making the coming year successful.

The social committee was also elected during the banquet with Miss Bernice Colbert, Miss Edna Simmons, Jim O'Connor, Jack Noble and Cliff Gawley, chosen. Miss B. Boyce, treasurer, reported a substantial balance of $513.47 in the bank after giving in detail the financial matters of the club during the last year. W. B. Grant, on behalf of the sick fund committee, said there was a large number of sick cases of members attended to during the year, but nevertheless, the fund still showed a good balance. Other committee reports heard

In closing of the business portion of the program, T. Ross paid tribute to Mr. Tadman for his unflinching efforts during his terms of office. A presentation was made to Mr. Tadman.

ENTERTAINMENT ENJOYED

The entertainment was under the direction of Vic Simmons, who introduced Curley Perullet, local musician, who led the gathering in community singing. Jim Haggart accompanied the group singing on the guitar. Perullet and Haggart also entertained with instrumental and vocal duets.

Miss Winifred Applegate, soprano, sang "Spring Awakening," "Indian Love Call," and "Giannina Mia," and was loudly applauded, as was H. Piggot, who played the xylophone solos, "Hungarian Dance" and "Al Fresco," by Victor Herbert.

W. Harkness gave a magic exhibition which was also much enjoyed, and Reg Stoffer Jr. gave a performance of whistling.

The entertainment also included numbers by a trombone trio composed of Cliff Rutledge, Emil Michaux and Harry Figgot. The numbers played were "Now It Can Be Told," "Whispering," and "Bye Bye Blues." Len Acres accompanied at the piano throughout the program.

CANCER FIGHT

MONTREAL (CP)—The high death rate from cancer is due in part to the fact more people are living to middle age, the most dangerous cancer period, Col. H. J. P. Oakley, president of the Actuarial Institute of Great Britain, told reporters here yesterday. Better health practices have lowered death rates, with a result more people reach middle age, he said.

Bluff Called at Last

MANY PEOPLE IN THE WORLD WHO have digested the speech which Reichsfuehrer Hitler shouted from Berlin yesterday are probably inclined to believe that his mental balance is seriously deranged. In circumstances fraught with less serious possibilities such an utterance would be catalogued as just another indiscretion on the part of a fourth-rate politician. Unfortunately, however, Der Fuehrer is in a sufficiently strong position, with a diabolical element of the German people to get his own way. It is beside the point to speculate upon his innermost conception of the role he seems to believe he has been chosen by divine authority to play. Nor does it appear to be much use to suggest either to him or to those who are under his mesmeric spell that if he picks up the gauge of battle now thrown down by Great Britain, France and Russia in support of a cause which is morally sound in every particular, he will be embarking on an adventure from which he will not be allowed to emerge successfully. Nevertheless, the plain fact that responsible sources are making no secret of their displeasure at this triple-alliance-backing of Czechoslovakia—with armed forces as well as lip-service—a faint ray may be marking the belated dawn of reason across the horizon of the Berlin despots.

Whatever tendency may have existed to acknowledge that Reichsfuehrer Hitler has a case for discussion as to the future of his compatriots living within the borders of the independent sovereign state of Czechoslovakia—and a beneficent atmosphere generally had been generated by universal discussion of the subject—has now almost disappeared in the light of the arresting fact that he prefers to fight for what he originally demanded rather than take it as a gift from the Prague government. As we have observed in these columns many times, however, the "plight" of the Sudeten Germans within the war-born republic has been merely used as a subterfuge, a cloak to cover up the Nazi oligarchy's real ambitions of a much more comprehensive political and territorial nature. Furthermore, when the government at Prague signified its willingness, under pressure from Great Britain and France, to yield to an alteration of the 20-year-old treaty on ethnic grounds, Der Fuehrer was compelled to show his hand. It was his demand that he be allowed to use force in his acceptance of Czechoslovakia's contribution to the cause of peace, his setting of October 1 as the date beyond which his hand would not be stayed, that brought him to the position in which he finds himself today. He is checked. If he goes ahead with the plans he announced again yesterday, he not only will commit a much more serious blunder than Kaiser Wilhelm II committed in 1914, he will also fashion the noose for his own neck—which his own people may tighten.

There is still a chance for Herr Hitler: to try to "save face." He can agree to the original plan in connection with the future of a part of Czechoslovakia. His first display of reason will be seized upon by all parties concerned. The desire for peace is actuating every government save that which goes by the name of government in Berlin. The Reichsfuehrer's protestations of peaceful intent are merely the bleatings of the arch-hypocrite who has begun to be afraid. He can still prove to the world that he is not entirely mad. His term as chief-director of Germany's affairs may yet be lengthened if he will be reasonable and think more of the obviously fervent desire for peace of the majority of the German people and less about his own insatiable vanity. For he must realize now that stacked against him are all the resources of four nations of 275,000,000 people!

Brains and Lanes

NEW COMMENTARY ON THE WORKING of the human mind comes in a report from the meetings of the National Institute for Highway Safety Training at Ann Arbor. The three-lane highway, according to a prominent engineer, is oddly enough, a safer road to drive on than the super-highway of four lanes.

It seems that drivers have learned to regard that centre stretch on the three-lane road as a kind of no-man's land, and avoid it, with thoughts of head-on collisions in their minds. But when the same drivers get on a four-lane highway—which has no dangerous lane—they have nothing visible staring them in the face as a warning. So they move out in the centre and drive as rapidly as possible where there is no lane at all—to often greet one another through their windshields.

From the same traffic conference comes the assertion that tests have shown that the high-grade moron is, in general, the best driver—better than the genius. Evidently the high-grade moron likes to follow grooves—or lanes. The low-grade moron can't. The genius won't. We are funny animals.

The Japanese and the Chinese seem to be applying old-fashioned industrial methods to warfare. The former go in for the speed-up and the latter counter with the stretch-out.

A New Leader

MR. MAITLAND, WHOM BRITISH COLUMBIA Conservatives have chosen to lead them in an attempted march out of the wilderness, is personally one of the most likeable as well as being one of the most promising of those who have been high in the party's councils during recent years. Through his years in the Legislature he has been seasoned in politics. He is a fluent speaker and has won distinction in his profession of the law. With a probable three years or so before a general provincial election, he has adequate time to prove his capacity as the party reconstructionist and to feel his way with the voters at large. With Mr. Anson at Mr. Maitland's right hand, the old party will be well equipped with experienced ability in the driving seat.

Those within and without the ranks who looked for the party to take a forward step may be somewhat disappointed with the results of the Kamloops convention so far as platform goes. There were the usual professions of political purity, which a party out of power can always afford to make. There were adopted the customary convention resolutions of high intent. The party came out for health insurance and for a public utilities commission. It also came out for an highway commission "independent" of cabinet control, by which the delegates really meant independent of Liberal cabinet control. But in its declarations of policy, the party broke no new ground. However, experience has shown resolutions passed at a convention may mean little or nothing. After all, the important work of the convention was naming a leader, upon whom policies and their interpretation will depend. It is still true as has been repeatedly said of parties that their leaders are their policy. In this light the responsibility of Mr. Maitland is increased. We think he is conscious of the fact that the party will have to do more than try to sell itself to the public on his personality as it did in the case of Dr. Toimle.

Desist, Benito!

IT MUST BE ESPECIALLY GALLING TO Premier Mussolini these days that no matter how valiantly he may try to get into the limelight, no matter how far he may expand his chest and chin, no matter how high he may pitch his voice, the rest of Europe just simply cannot be bothered. He shouted loudly the other day that Italy was ready to meet "drama" any time it might be called upon to meet it, that there was no doubt where Italy would be when the time came, that, in short, the Fascist soldiery of King Victor Emmanuel's kingdom would fight on the side of Germany. But Hitler's "brother-in-axis" does not seem to excite anybody. We can almost hear Maxim Litvinoff telling him to be a good little boy and play leapfrog with his cabinet ministers. One of Mussolini's major worries, of course, is his guilty knowledge that there are several brilliant Italian patriots of the type of Professor Salvemini and Senator Albertini—"suppressed" by his decree—ready to begin the deliverance of their country from its Fascist bondage. And, incidentally, where is that much advertised Anglo-Italian "friendship" pact?

Typical of Hitler

SAID REICHSFUEHRER HITLER TO day in reply to President Roosevelt's statement of yesterday:

"I can and must decline every responsibility of the German people and its leadership if, contrary to all my efforts to date, further developments should actually lead to an outbreak of hostilities."

This observation from the Nazi chieftain carries its own commentary—to which may be added, however, that any promise he may make would be worthless.

It would appear from the numerous military displays accorded recent visitors to Germany that the big thing over there these days is pomp-priming.

DANGER IN RAW MILK

From Winnipeg Free Press

Proper realization of the amount of disease spread in Canada through raw milk should bring unanimous support for pasteurization. It is a menace that has been ignored far too long, and there is urgent need of action to safeguard this most important of all foods and to close what has been conclusively proven to be an open door to disease.

There have been 48 epidemics involving 7,812 cases of sickness, mostly in the larger Canadian cities, in the last 27 years. These were definitely proven to have been milk-borne. There were undoubtedly other epidemics from the same source in other places which were not investigated and proven.

The proven epidemics included 35 of typhoid fever, with 6,514 cases and 674 deaths; three epidemics of paratyphoid with 522 cases and three deaths; seven epidemics of scarlet fever with 192 cases; and three epidemics of septic sore throat with 584 cases and four deaths. In addition, there has been a large amount of bovine tuberculosis and undulant fever.

The typhoid fever included two very severe epidemics in Montreal, but there were no less than four in Winnipeg and one in Carman. Fifteen cases of typhoid in Winnipeg in 1926 were proven to have come from infection in raw milk. Nine cases in this city in the previous year came from the same cause and there were two deaths. In 1912, Winnipeg had 92 cases of typhoid due to milk and seven lives were sacrificed. Again in 1918, this city had 23 cases of the same serious disease from infected raw milk. Carman had 15 people sick with typhoid and one death in 1933 from the same cause. The disease apparently came from a carrier of typhoid who was milking the cows.

AS I SEE IT

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

CONFESSION

ONCE UPON A TIME I was in a position to influence some public opinion in Canada. I had a good press, so to speak. I did what I could to help bring in government-owned radio in Canada. I want to take this chance of making public apology. We have had many costly flops in Canada. But I do not recall anything offhand that has flopped worse than the institution we now call the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Why we should continue to pay for the upkeep of this institution is more than I can understand.

The American networks are consistently putting out better programs than the CBC. They are so good that the CBC is itself carrying many of them. The argument that the CBC was to prevent radio Americanization of Canada therefore becomes ridiculous.

But in no respect has the heavy hand of bureaucracy fallen with such disastrous results as in news broadcasts. The so-called news broadcasts by the CBC, except, possibly for the extra bulletins now being given in conjunction with other radio chains during these days of crisis, are about the world's worst excuse for a service. The news given is almost always so stale as to be useless. There is too little of what is given. The form of composition is poor for radio use.

Private radio news agencies are supplying the smaller town radio stations with first-class bulletins. These put the CBC stuff to shame. Jim Hunter of the Toronto Evening Telegram also puts on a really good radio news service. Both in fairness to the radio listeners and to the daily newspapers, the sooner the arrangement between the CBC and the Canadian Press is canceled the better. Probably the Canadian Press is deliberately supplying the CBC with an inferior service.

ADVICE TO A FUTURE INVADER

Direct your guns against the sky, and slam them like a door.
And mark the solid turf of wheat prepared at Warlencourt.
Pour out your concrete cold and firm, that wheels may rest upon it—
Trace out your calculation clear, that you may quickly con it!

You'll need a sight, a fire-mark, to point your bitter range.
So let the walls of Fricourt scale as if they had the mangle;
Let them divide in smallest dust, and clear your view to Bray.
(And disregard the ranks of white that gleam beside Pozieres.)

And find that hill above the Somme, with steps that lead aloft,
And count the ordinary names, like Patter-son and Croft.
Like Rose and Shaw and Henderson, like Harrison and Jones
And put it down to accident if shells annoy the bones.

Exalt each rusty buckle, each corrosion of the brass;
Bring them to heaven's light again through rich, reluctant grass:
Phalanges left by Stevenson, the ribs of Steele and Stone—
Now excavate them with a shell, and blow them to Peronne!

The fire-marks, the points of range, are thick along the way
That leads from Albert to Bapaume and back again to Bray.
Since you have cut the Maginot, bring west your Emma Gees
And indicate the marble that grows higher than your knees.

The names forgot, the foreign names, the names beyond the water
That had no right to emigrate into your willing slaughter—
Teach them a lesson they'll recall—though they may think it strange—
To be disturbed a second time, when you have found their range.

MACKINLAY KANTOR.

PRAYER

From a Woman Reader

O God, from whose holy desires, right counsels and just works proceed, give unto Thy servants that peace which the world cannot give; that our hearts being devoted to Thy commandments, and the fear of enemies removed, our times may, by Thy protection, be peaceful.

Disregard not, we beseech Thee, Almighty God, Thy people who cry to Thee in their affliction but, being appeased, for the glory of Thy name succour them in their tribulation.

O God, our refuge and our strength, and Thyself the author of all good, give ear to the devout prayers of Thy people; and grant that what we ask with faith, we may effectively receive.

SUN ON LAKE SHAWNIGAN

A thousand jewels shine upon the lake today.
I'm happy, 'cause they are mine with which the play;
I dip my hands and scoop up diamonds rare,
And laugh in glee and drop them on my hair.

And dreaming, I imagine I am clothed
In all the jewels that this lake could hold.
My boat is gliding o'er this treasure told.
The sun sinks low, it's now a lake of gold.

AN APPRECIATION

To the Editor:—On a recent visit to the Forbidden Plateau my brother had an accident, followed by a complete breakdown. This has brought home to me the immense amount of kindness and unselfishness there still is in this world of ours. The Woods, of the Plateau Lodge, simply dropped all their manifold activities, placing the whole of their resources (which appear to me unlimited) at our disposal, and when asked for the bill gave a characteristic Woods' reply: "For get it, we do not make money out of other people's misfortunes."

My thanks are also due to many others: to Dr. Cornish, who under the circumstances was not only doctor but stretcher-bearer and friend, to "Wilfred the Moose," "Arthur the Deer," Corporal Clark and Bud of the police, the forest lads, etc., all of whose disinterested kindness was beyond all praise. L. P. EMERSON, View Royal.

SHARE RESPONSIBILITIES

To the Editor:—The letter of Frank L. Godfrey made my British blood boil. I hope there will be many who will answer him who are still proud to be Britishers.

There are only two policies; groveling, as he calls it, and war, and all sane and sober-minded people are torn between the two. They remember the dark days of 1914-1918; the bombs dropping, the hospital trains in the stations and rows of ambulances drawn up along the platforms—the scenes in the stations when the soldiers were going back to France from leave.

The people of Canada do not know what war is. I hear people on all sides remarking we are in a good spot here and well out of it, and I read in an article that Mackenzie King is too experienced to be stampeded into any rash statement of policy, but Frank L. Godfrey cries: Eternal shame to Britain if they don't fight.

The people of Great Britain will bear the brunt of war if it comes, so let those people of Canada who pride themselves on being independent, as they think, and well out of it, allow Great Britain to decide, and whichever way they choose I say "All honor to them."

If they fight, let us proudly share the responsibilities as we share the privileges of belonging to a glorious Empire.
ELIZ. MACHARG.
1518 Myrtle Street.

FROM A CRIPPLED SOLDIER

To the Editor:—Unlike the people who make money out of armaments, like the Chamberlain faction (for some of the shareholders read the life of Sir Basil Zaharoff), permanently crippled ex-soldiers who fought against Germany strongly object to seeing a small country like Czechoslovakia, who fought for the Allies, now cut to pieces as her reward.

The writer has never been fortunate enough to own any shares in Vickers, but is only a permanently crippled ex-soldier, and considers Chamberlain's desire to appease the only real enemy of Great Britain and world peace very sinister. He believes the Times is doing good work in giving the people correct information just now, especially when certain interests are trying to confuse the public.

IF WAR COMES

To the Editor:—According to all accounts, war is inevitable. In which event why should not Canadians stay at home and guard their own country and homes, instead of being forced over to Europe? They could then also help Uncle Sam, who would come over here in case of invasion of Canada.

Suggests Island Municipal Body

Councillor Albert
Heald Tells Esquimalt
Council of Plan

An organization of Vancouver Island cities and municipalities to act in the interests of island centres in making approaches on various matters to the provincial government was suggested by Councillor Albert Heald at last night's meeting of the Esquimalt Council.

Councillor Heald's suggestion was brought forward after he had pointed out with regret that Victoria City had not been given representation on the executive of the Union of B.C. Municipalities at this year's convention.

"It does seem a shame that the second largest city of the province, and the capital city at that, should not have at least one member on the union executive," Councillor Heald said.

He pointed out that the new executive comprised practically all mainland members and observed "it looks to me like the union is getting into the hands of a clique." He thought it a pity Victoria had not received representation and favored forwarding the city a letter indicating Esquimalt's attitude.

He proposed a Vancouver Island organization to act for the various councils similar to the Fraser Valley Reeves' Association. He did not want to create the impression that such an organization should work against the union as he was a strong supporter of that body, but he felt greater weight could be given island claims by such an association.

Reeve Alex. Lockley thought much good could come from such an organization but pointed out the difficulties which might arise with the union. The union had established itself as a valuable organization to the cities and municipalities of the province and one which was recognized by the government, he said.

Former Victorian Wins Band Awards

Of interest to his many friends in Victoria is the announcement that Milton Vincent, formerly of this city and now a resident of Olympia, Washington, and his American Legion band won high honors at last week's convention of the American Legion in Los Angeles.

After serving overseas with the 103rd battalion of the Canadian army, Mr. Vincent went to Olympia, where he organized the band and is now its conductor. It was this band that won the gold cup, highest award for its class, and other prizes, making it the finest legion band in the United States.

Mr. Vincent is a son of Mrs. E. Vincent of Vancouver, formerly of Victoria, and brother of Mrs. J. Kent Fawkes and Mrs. C. Crefield of Victoria.

Active Season for "Y" Prep Classes

The Y.M.C.A. prep physical training class was organized into four different groups on Saturday, namely the Buffalos, Tigers, Leopards and Lions. The preps take in boys ranging from 10 to 12 years of age, and are on the floor each Saturday from 9.30 to 10.30 after which they have an instructed swimming period in the "Y" tank. An extra swimming class is held on every Tuesday afternoon at 4.30.

The different groups will be led by members of the Junior Leaders' Corps. Interclub competitions will be a definite point in the club program to encourage the youngsters in the "Y" activities.

Further registrations will be accepted for this class. Informa-

Want Special Island Group

Mayors' and Reeves' Association Suggested
By Ald. J. A. Worthington

A motion referring to the legislative committee consideration of a move to inaugurate a special Vancouver Island Mayors' and Reeves' Association, to give island communities a united front in approaches to municipal conventions and to the provincial government, was carried upon its introduction by Alderman John A. Worthington to the City Council last night.

The motion was an outgrowth of a report presented by Aldermen Worthington and Ed. Williams on the September 16 meeting of the B.C. Aviation Council in Nelson.

The report outlined activities at the convention, during which strong efforts had been made by the city delegates to have Vancouver Island included in a feeder route for Trans-Canada Airways, during which the civil aviation authorities had informed the Victorians they had nothing to do with national defence projects. The latter answer was given to a question regarding the adaptability of the Sidney air base for commercial purposes.

ISLAND CONSIDERATION
The meeting had gone on record as favoring contribution by the federal government to financing of airports on feeder routes, and the local delegates had been successful in insisting that Vancouver Island be included in that category.

If south Vancouver Island wished to be considered on the air map, it was necessary for all municipalities in the section to present a united front in representations along those lines, the report stated. The remark led to the passage of the motion for an island municipal union introduced later in the meeting.

Alderman Worthington was thanked for his excellent report.

PUPILS GIVEN YEAR'S AWARDS

Alderman J. Adam, Alderman W. H. Davies, Colonel Lorne Ross and C. A. Gill were guests at the opening exercises at Victoria West School last week.

Certificates were presented to 28 pupils who were promoted to high school in June. The principal's prize for proficiency was won by Norma Hurry. The Alderman James Adam Cup for boys' leadership was won by Douglas Brown, and the Dr. E. W. Boak Cup for girls' leadership was won by Joyce Foster.

Cups were presented to the school for leadership in the following leagues: Girls' Grass Hockey (open), Girls' Senior Basketball, Girls' Junior B Basketball, Boys' Junior B Football, and Boys' Junior B Basketball.

The Pro Patria Cup and the Campaigners' Shield were presented for cadet training.

The House Shield, an intra-school award by the P.T.A. to the house leading in academic work and sports, was won by Thompson House.

The school received a gift from Alderman Davies of a shield which it is planned to use in one phase of house competition.

Three cups were awarded by Mr. Kipling to the pupils who headed the first aid class carried on throughout the year. These were won by Shirley Sweeney, Isabel Black, and Peter Jackson. Miss McCall led the school in several songs.

The following prefects received their badges: Harold Adams, Duncan Bishop, Arthur Holland, Robert Johnstone, Peter Jackson, Catherine Renton, June Burrows, Dorothy Smith, Norine Moore and Margaret Loudoun.

At the North Ward school exercises, the principal, W. H. Muncy, made the introductory remarks. The awards presented included the Canadian School Cup for shooting; the Times Cup for girls' general activities; the Junior Boys' Basketball Cup, and the Senior Girls' Basketball Cup, as well as entrance certificates.

Mr. Muncy thanked the Victoria Women's Institute for the continued interest it had shown in the school, and made particular reference to the gift of a gramophone and radio combination. Vocal selections were rendered by the students.

Defence Lack Is Deplored

Col. Baker Says Canada
on Same Unprepared
Footings as in 1914

"The duty has devolved on the shoulders of ex-soldiers who have experienced the horrors of war to bring home to the Canadian public at large the crying need for more protection against invasion," Col. E. Baker, O.B.E., national president of the Canadian Institute for the Blind, told members of the local branch of the Amputations' Association last night at a well-attended supper meeting in the Hudson's Bay Company dining-room. Mr. Baker is also a member of the executive of the Amputations' Association.

"When the last challenge faced us, were we prepared?" he questioned. "No, we were not. We had very little equipment and very few trained men, and if it had been a direct attack on Canada we would have been sunk. Only by the fact that Britain stepped in with all her might, did Canada have a chance to get prepared."

But even that had not taught Canada her lesson, he said, and she was on the same "spot" she was in 1914. "We should have had the foresight to see that hate and bitterness would accumulate over a period of years as a result of the last conflict and break out again," he declared.

"DISGRACE" TO CANADA

Continuing the speaker noted that what defences Canada had today were inadequate and a "disgrace" to Canadians who have any real love for the country. Canada had not prepared to fight shoulder to shoulder with the other Dominions in the preservation of the British Empire, he noted.

Col. Baker pointed out that the Canadian taxpayer was not contributing his share toward defence in proportion to that paid by U.S. and British taxpayers. If Canada spent money on arms proportionately with the taxpayers of those two countries, she would be spending $100,000,000 and $200,000,000, respectively, instead of a mere $35,000,000, he said.

The Institute leader did not doubt that Canada would bend every effort to aid Great Britain should she be caught in another war. Canada's present militia forces were not very well trained and were using poor samples of modern equipment, a lot of which was condemned during the Great War, he declared.

UP TO EMPIRE

Fascism and Communism stood to the right and left and in between was the broad highway of Christianity and democracy. It was up to the British Empire to keep that highway door open, said M. C. Robinson, Western representative of the Institute for the Blind, in the opening address of the evening.

This speaker noted the contributions that had been made for civilization by Canadian soldiers had not been in vain. It had cleared the way for a fairly good civilization—a civilization of democracy. He believed that should another attempt be made to upset civilization, Canada would be behind England.

An outline of the progress that had been made by the Amputations' Association, was given by Richard Myers, honorary dominion secretary of the organization. He reported the association, which had been in existence for 18 years, expected to complete its program within a year or two.

"When that is accomplished we will withdraw from the legislative field as an association," the secretary said.

Mr. Myers urged all amputation cases on the island to rally around the Victoria branch and give it their whole-hearted support.

H. Thirlwall, president of the local branch, was in the chair. Fred Wells thanked the speakers.

PLAN FORUM AT SHAWNIGAN

On Friday evening under the chairmanship of H. Webber, representatives from the various organizations of Shawnigan district gathered in the S.L.A.A. Hall to discuss ways and means of establishing a community open forum.

Mr. Webber explained the objects of the community venture and stated that it would be non-political but would tend to aim for a better spirit in citizenship and educational matters. The delegates were asked to explain to their organizations the aims of the open forum and in order that all residents may make themselves interested in the movement, a public meeting was called for October 12 in the S.L.A.A. Hall at 8 with the object of commencing organization of the forum.

Good business men depend upon The Dominion Bureau of Statistics to keep them informed

A BUSINESS MAN does not have to depend entirely upon his own sales figures as a guide in the operation of his business. He can obtain other reliable statistical information to aid him in making correct decisions.

Every morning he can have placed on his desk a daily news letter from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics summarizing the chief items of statistical importance in Canada's trade. This for only a dollar a year.

Monthly Reports From the Bureau

For another dollar a year the business man can obtain a monthly review of business statistics with charts and texts of current economic conditions.

Another dollar will bring him monthly reports on employment. For the same price he can procure monthly reports of the changes in retail sales.

For the small sum of one dollar he can secure a monthly bulletin of agricultural conditions. Another dollar procures monthly reports on building permits. A like amount obtains monthly reports on the External Trade of Canada (Export and Import). These are only a few examples of the many reports obtainable from the Bureau of Statistics, a list of which will be sent to you on request.

Working Constantly To Improve Trade

Every business day the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, a division of the Department of Trade and Commerce, is constantly collecting and tabulating statistics and preparing reports on Canada's domestic and foreign trade—all so that the operations of government departments, financial institutions and private businesses may have reliable figures and information for their guidance.

The constant endeavour of the Department of Trade and Commerce is to promote an increasing volume of internal and external trade so that Canada and Canadians may enjoy greater prosperity.

A Book For Canadian Business Men

A mine of valuable information for the business man is the Bureau's annual volume, The Canada Year Book, which contains more than 1,100 pages of statistical information on resources, trade, finances, population, employment, social and economic conditions and many other subjects. The 1938 Year Book costs but $1.50. If you haven't already ordered your copy from the King's Printer, do so now.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP PETITION STARTED

New Group in City Circulating Request Calling for Plebiscite on Issue

Circulation of a petition requesting the City Council to hold a plebiscite to determine the citizens' attitude to public ownership of utilities started among Victoria taxpayers today following a preliminary meeting of the newly formed Public Ownership League in the Y.M.C.A. last night.

The group sponsoring the action is a nonpolitical organization which plans to lay its objectives before the public at a mass meeting in the near future.

At last night's meeting the nucleus of the group decided to circulate cities of Canada and the United States in which public ownership is an established fact to determine costs of such procedure and the method by which they are financed.

Considerable data on the question has already been collected and will be studied by those interested in the new movement.

Pending official election of officers at the coming public meeting Mrs. K. A. Bell is acting secretary for the league.

MALAHAT TRADE BOARD

The monthly meeting of the Malahat Board of Trade was recently held in the S.L.A.A. Hall, with H. G. Hawking occupying the chair. The work of improving the old Victoria Road and the outlet to the lake was discussed, and the secretary was instructed to write the Department of Public Works regarding the re-routing of traffic over the old Victoria Road when work commences on the new work on the Malahat.

25 Years Ago

SEPTEMBER 27, 1913
(From the Times Files)

Three cases were heard in the Saanich Police Court today under the provincial traffic regulations. All were for driving with loads of produce or goods in wagons which had tires of a less width than is required by law, and with a load in excess of what is allowed by the provincial statutes.

The Anti-Asiatic League holds another meeting this evening at the Liberal rooms, Cormorant Street, "to protest against the invasion of the province by the yellow slaves," as the handbill announces.

In the City Police Court this morning Magistrate George Jay sent a young man from England, who only recently arrived in Victoria, to a month's imprisonment for larceny, and indicated that at the end of that time arrangements would be made for his deportation.

It is announced that the Arena will be thrown open for skating on Friday, October 17. This will be somewhat earlier than last year, but the success of the opening last year has prompted the management to prepare for a busy season.

On receiving complaints that several people had been "buncoed" in apparent games of chance at the Fair, now in session at the Willows, Chief Handley of the Oak Bay force paid a visit to all the games complained of, and after making careful inspection, closed up no fewer than six.

WEDDINGS

CLARKE-BETHELL

Rev. Arthur Bischlager officiated at the quiet wedding at St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, Esquimalt, on Saturday evening, uniting in marriage Dorothy, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bethell, 989 Wollaston Street, and Mr. William Oakes Wallace Clarke, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Clarke, 123 Howe Street.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a wine-red tailored suit, an eggshell blouse and wine accessories, her corsage bouquet being gardenias and Tailsman roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruby Bethell, in a grey suit, with a rose-pink jersey and hat and a corsage bouquet of pink roses and swansonia. Mr. Bernard Prior was best man.

At the small reception held at the home of the bride's parents, the young couple stood beneath an arch of pink and white flowers. The supper table, covered with a Madeira cloth, was centred with the bride's cake between four silver vases of pink roses. Mrs. Bethell was dressed in a navy blue ensemble, and Mrs. Clarke Sr. wore a navy blue and white red-tinged frock with blue accessories. They both wore corsage bouquets of pink roses.

After a wedding trip to Vancouver, Seattle and Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Clarke will return to Victoria to live.

RAYNOR-HUNT

Of interest to Victoria and Regina friends was the wedding solemnized Saturday night, September 24, at 8, between Edith Jane, youngest daughter of Mr. J. E. Hunt of Neville, Saskatchewan, and Dr. Everett Freeman Raynor, son of Mrs. M. Raynor and the late Dr. Melbourn Raynor, at the home of the bridegroom's mother, 808 Russell Street, in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives. Rev. John Robson officiated.

After spending a few days on the island, Dr. and Mrs. Raynor will leave for Seattle, and later will go to New York, where Dr. Raynor, who has been home for a short vacation, will resume post-graduate work at the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital.

The out-of-town guests were Miss Frances McDonald of Regina and Miss Edna M. Raynor of Vancouver, sister of the bridegroom.

VEACH-McMULLAN

Of interest to the bridegroom's many friends in Victoria was the marriage solemnized in St. Andrew's Wesleyan United Church, Vancouver, on Saturday evening at 8, between Edythe, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. McMullan, Vancouver, and Mr. William Edward Veach, only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Veach, 1025 Johnson Street, Victoria.

The church was decorated with chrysanthemums and dahlias, and Rev. J. S. Henderson, D.D., performed the ceremony.

The bride was given away by her father, and wore a pretty frock of pale blue net, a pink hat and accessories, and carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums and carnations. Miss Rosalie McMullan was her sister's bridesmaid, in a frock of pink net with blue accessories, and carried a bouquet of blue delphiniums and pink carnations. Mr. John D. Campbell, Lussland, Sask., was best man, and Mr. Alec Hutchinson, Victoria, was usher.

A largely-attended reception was held later at the home of the bride's parents, 1144 Richards Street, in a lovely setting of flowers. The pink and blue color motif was carried out in the decoration of the supper table, with flowers and candles, and it was centred with a three-tiered cake.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Veach, the bridegroom's parents, and Miss Nora Humphrey of Victoria were guests at the wedding.

After a motor trip to Portland, to which the bride left in a smart grey and blue tailored outfit, the newly-married pair will return to Victoria in about two weeks and make their home on May Street.

King's Daughters Arrange Tea

Final arrangements for the district tea, to be held in the rest rooms, Hibben-Bone Building, on Saturday afternoon, were made at the district meeting of the King's Daughters held last evening, with Mrs. William Russell in the chair.

Circle reports were read and it was reported that two layettes had been made, clothing sent to the orphanage and flowers sent to sick and "shut-ins." Plans were made for a rummage sale on October 15. The rest rooms were open for 27 days last month and there had been 1,360 patrons. After the business meeting,

Miss Margaret Ross, provincial president, addressed the meeting, pointing out to younger members that they would have to prepare themselves to carry on the work which has been so successfully done by older members during the past 50 years. During this time little change had taken place in the manner of carrying on the service to humanity "In His Name."

Mrs. A. M. Perry moved the vote of thanks to Miss Ross for her talk, after which the younger members served refreshments under the convenship of Mrs. C. F. Lawrence, assisted by members of the L. H. Hardie and Fellowship Circles.

Frau Dollfuss Seeks Haven

LONDON—Alwine Dollfuss, one of the most tragic figures of modern times, is living incognito in a small Welsh seaside village with her two children, Eva, 11, and Rudi, seven, bidding her time until relatives and friends in America can arrange for her coming to the United States where she hopes to make her permanent home. With that in mind, she is busily studying English with her children.

Only a few years ago Frau Dollfuss seemed sitting on top of the world. Her husband, Engelbert Dollfuss, was the Chancellor and virtual ruler of Austria. Austria was still an independent country. It seemed to have weathered some of the worst storms. Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy was her husband's good friend. He was also apparently a good friend of Austria. Frau Dollfuss and her children and Signora Mussolini and young children holidayed together at the Italian seaside.

IN COLD BLOOD

Then, on July 25, 1934, occurred one of the worst crimes in European political history. A band of Austrian Nazis forced their way into the Chancellery in Vienna and shot down Dollfuss in cold blood. The dying man begged for a doctor's care. They refused him. He pleaded that a priest be sent for, so he could have the last religious consolation and communion. They turned deaf ears to him.

The murderers had hoped to capture the government and install their own regime. They were defeated by the Austrian army and many were captured. Otto Planetta, the ringleader, was tried by court martial, found guilty and hanged as an assassin. He and another hanged with him cried "Heil Hitler" before the trap was sprung. Other conspirators were sent to prison. The rising in other parts of Austria was put down.

To make sure that the German Nazis would not march into Austria, Mussolini rushed 50,000 troops to the Brenner Pass. He used mighty words. He wept over Madame Dollfuss. He assured Austria of his protection. Despite abundant proof, Germany disavowed any connection with the abortive putsch, brought home its minister from Vienna and later sent, instead, the crafty von Papen, always a bird of evil omen—the same Westphalian Junker who, as Military Attaché in the German Embassy in Washington, was up to his neck in plots against American neutrality during the World War.

PROMISES BROKEN

Frau Dollfuss, bereft of her husband, nevertheless could live in peace in Austria, for the murdered man was succeeded by his friend and co-worker, Kurt von Schuschnigg. But that did not last for long. Last May Hitler marched his troops into Vienna. Mussolini, who had promised to protect Schuschnigg and Austrian independence, did neither. The Berlin-Rome axis was working.

Brightest College Girls Wed Early

PROVIDENCE, R.I. College girls who lead their class in intelligence become the mothers of just as many children in later life as do their less intellectual classmates. They marry just as young.

This tentative conclusion, drawn from a study of 108 girls from the class of 1927 of the Women's College, Brown University, is reported in the current issue of Science by Dr. Raymond R. Willoughby of Brown. Dr. Willoughby had previously found that the most intelligent of men college students become the fathers of more children than do the least intelligent, and that this was due to early marriage.

College women, like college men, fall far short of producing enough children to replace them in future generations, Dr. Willoughby's survey revealed. The 54 girls scoring highest on intelligence tests were blessed with only 36 children. The less intelligent group of equal size gave birth to 37.

Extension of the inquiry to include larger groups was urged by Dr. Willoughby.

ing full time. Frau Dollfuss saw all her husband's friends sent to jail or concentration camp. Schuschnigg was arrested and is to be tried by a special court set up by a special law and named especially by Hitler himself. The fact that his "crimes" were committed as head of an independent state, not then part of Naziland, is not deterring the Nazis. Before that same court they are going to bring the judges who tried and condemned the assassins of Frau Dollfuss' husband.

She herself only managed to escape from Austria with her children, first into Hungary, thence to Switzerland and England.

MURDERER NOW HERO

And now in Wales she has been reading what for her is the ultimate horror: Planetta, the executed criminal, has been erected into another hero in the Nazi calendar. His grave is to be a place of pious pilgrimage for good Nazis. There are to be Planetta squares and streets all over what was once Austria. Planetta thus takes his place in the Nazi Valhalla along with other murderers.

One of the first things the Nazis did, after they came into power in 1933, was to honor two sets of assassins—those who killed the Roman Catholic statesman, Matthias Erzberger in August, 1921, and those who killed the Jewish statesman Walter Rathenau in June, 1922. Erzberger for a time in the early days of the republic was Vice-Chancellor. Rathenau during the World War had a position similar to that of Bernard Baruch in America—supreme head of the machinery for conserving necessary raw materials for war purposes. Later, Rathenau was Foreign Minister under the republic.

Spun Aluminum Newest for Dresses

Young Britisher
Invents New
Pliable Fabric

LONDON—Aluminum is the latest dress material. Mr. P. King-Morgan, a young architectural engineer, has just had a good idea. For some years his firm has been fitting restaurants, theatres, ships and so on with aluminum fittings.

It occurred to him that women might like shiny dresses which would never tarnish, never wear out. So he asked some friends in the metal industry if they could make him a metal sheeting so pliable that it could be used as material.

They did. And the result was a mannequin parade with all the girls encased in metal. The effect was grand. The material is like a mixture of satin and taffeta and it can have a shiny or a dull finish.

Some of the frocks had bright patterns painted on them, others were plain with ruching and full skirts to trim them. A parade of these dresses is to be held every day at the women's fair which is taking place at Olympia in November. Colored lights will be turned on the mannequins to show how well this new material reflects and gleams.

C.G.I.T. Week-end Retreat Success

The Victoria C.G.I.T. leaders' annual week-end retreat was held at the Y.W.C.A. Mrs. R. E. Harris presided over the meeting, and after a short devotional the singing was led by Miss Louise Noble. Miss Anne Fountain, B.A., provincial girls' work secretary from Vancouver, led a round-table discussion on girls' work in general. Miss Dorothy Beech gave a practical demonstration of social activities in the group. Refreshments brought the evening to a close.

Sunday, approximately 30 leaders met at the home of Miss L. McCall, Prospect Lake. After dinner was served Mrs. Harris, president, introduced the new leaders to the group, and Miss Sylvia Smith led a devotional service, her topic being "Oh That I May Grow."

Discussions on program building were continued. Miss A. Fountain conducted this group and gave many helpful suggestions on personal counselling. A short intermission followed, after which Miss Vilma Cross, Baptist girls' work secretary, outlined suggested programs for the first half of the C.G.I.T. year. Miss Fountain gave a list of available material and Mrs. Harris made several announcements.

Supper and a sing-song occupied the next hour, then Miss F. White led a discussion on the leaders' council. It was decided that a group of councillors would be formed who will be on call to advise any new C.G.I.T. groups or to render active assistance at the meetings for a period of four or five weeks, providing there are prospective leaders for the groups. The next leaders' council meeting will be held on Monday, October 17, the place to be stated later.

Miss Fountain brought the week-end of fellowship to a close with an inspiring worship service.

Moose Supper and Dance Success
The K. of P. Hall, 1415 Broad Street, on Saturday evening was the scene of a merry gathering when Maple Leaf Legion No. 53, Local Order of the Moose, entertained legionaries from Nanaimo and Vancouver, including District Deputy Supreme Dictator W. Fulton Herder of Moose Legions of B.C., A. Baines and A. Peg. North Moose of Vancouver, to supper. The tables formed a large square and in the centre small cottages and buildings were arranged to represent a miniature Moose haven, the home for the aged in Florida, supported by the order, bowls of red, white and purple apples completing the decoration. Dr. C. B. Mess said grace and toastmaster was North Moose, R. Lott, who proposed the toast of the King. W. Kettle, first vice-president of the Northwest Moose Association, in giving the toast to the supreme lodge, stressed the importance of Moose-Heart Day, October 27, and especially this year as it is its silver anniversary. W. Fulton replied. Toast to visiting legionaries by Past North Moose L. Cox was replied to by A. Baines. A vote of appreciation was given to the women's chapter's committee. Miss D. Guelph (convener), Mesdames C. Drysdale, E. Jane, K. Herring, R. Panting, M. Pearce, I. Guelph and Miss B. Nutton, for the catering and arrangements of the table.

A meeting followed, at which four candidates were initiated into the legion, after which members and friends enjoyed dancing to the music of the melodians.

Those responsible for the affair were J. Johnston, L. Cox and Dr. Mess.

LONDON—Miss Daisy Burgess, who married Mr. Leslie Seymour recently, is going on a cycling trip to Africa for her honeymoon. She and her husband are taking £15 ($75) each with them and are going to camp out and shoot and fish for their food.

Woman Lawyer Has Marriage Rules

LONDON—An American lawyer who specializes in "wills, wives, and wrecks"—in her own words—arrived recently in London. She is Miss Dorothy Barker of New York, and she is spending a holiday here.

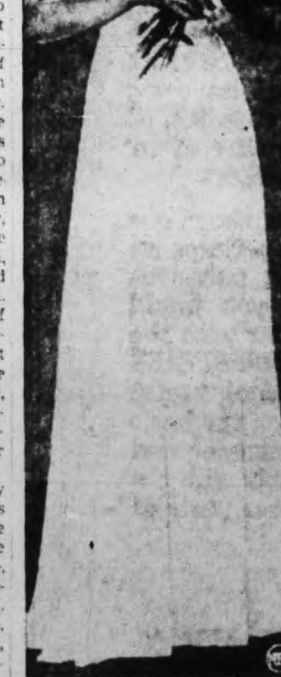

Miss Barker, vivacious, well-dressed, gave out her long experience, what she considers the golden rules of a happy marriage. "Marriage is like business," she said. "And people should go into it with this idea well fixed in their minds."

"Husbands should not see their wives in the morning before they are shaved, and wives should stay away from their husbands until they have made themselves look pretty."

"How can a girl look glamorous in the morning without a little makeup, and what wife would like to kiss an unshaven face?"

Divorce, she observed, is getting more popular in the United States because there is a lack of give and take, and because people marry in too much of a rush, in the first flush of infatuation.

"Many husbands and wives are thrown too much together," she added. "They should keep on their own interests and hobbies, and should go on separate holidays."

LONDON—Miss Alice Fawcett, 23-year-old secretary at Portsmouth airport, holder of an "A" pilot's license, has been made civil air guard number one. She made her first flight when she was 16—a 10s. ($250) joyride—at Portsmouth.

Featherless chicks, that cannot fly and therefore are easier to handle, will be exhibited at the New York State Fair this September.

To Confer on Street Cars

Aldermen Will Meet Head of B.C. Electric in Vancouver Next Week

The next step in Victoria's negotiations with the British Columbia Electric Railway Company Limited, will be taken in Vancouver next week, Mayor Andrew McGavin informed the City Council at its meeting last night.

He had communicated with W. G. Murrin, B.C. Electric president, by long-distance telephone yesterday and had arranged a meeting with the company heads on the mainland for Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday, to meet the convenience of R. W. Beck, utilities expert engaged by the city to advise it on franchise matters. Mr. Beck was unable to come to Victoria on his trip west but could space his flying routine to permit a trip to Vancouver, the mayor explained.

At the meeting the city delegates will ask Mr. Murrin for an explanation of conflicting impressions given to the city and to the street railwaymen on the question of the B.C. Electric's intentions in the transportation question.

Decision to take that action was reached following discussion of a letter from the local union of street car operators in which it was stated Mr. Murrin had given them a sympathetic hearing to a proposal from them to continue street cars here for a definite period, up to five years. The letter also asked the council stay any action on the transportation franchise until the results of a petition circulated by the car men on the public's desire for continuance of the existing system was completed.

That would take two or three weeks, the mayor said.

READ LETTER AGAIN

Mayor McGavin was disposed with the council, to consider the request but could see little value in it, owing to the announcement of the company stating the B.C. Electric was not interested in transportation following completion of the existing franchise.

He called for the reading of the last letter from company heads on the issue. The letter, which stated the B.C. Electric's decision to retire from the field after December 5, unless asked by the city to continue on a temporary basis pending the establishment of a substitute system, was read.

"In the face of that letter I'd like to hear opinions from the aldermen," the mayor stated.

"There must have been a change of heart somewhere," Alderman James Adam commented.

The mayor suggested a copy of the operators' letter to the city, outlining their requests, be forwarded to Mr. Murrin. It was up to the company to make the next approach to the council on the matter, he felt.

His position was supported by Alderman, Ed. Williams who, while not objecting to the car men's request, thought Mr. Murrin should re-enunciate the company's stand on the question to the city.

Alderman W. L. Morgan voiced similar views and suggested the matter be taken up at the Vancouver session.

A motion to that effect was carried.

Masaryk Calls Hitler Speech Uncultured

LONDON (AP)—Jan Masaryk, minister to Great Britain and son of the founder of the 20-year-old Czechoslovak republic, said last night after Chancellor Hitler's speech:

"My mother studied the piano with Franz Liszt at Weimar and my father was tutor to young Austrians at the University of Leipzig. They met under the auspices of wonderful German culture and I thank this fact for my existence."

"The speech I heard tonight is so unbelievably uncultured and shocking that I am proud of my government's decision to take a firm stand against the authors of a mentality which is trying to destroy European culture."

Winning Sudeten Would Intensify Nazi Problems

Increase Factory Area, But Render Demand Acute for Materials

By LEONARD H. ENGEL

Copyright, 1938

WASHINGTON—If Nazi Germany can incorporate within her borders the Sudeten area of Czechoslovakia, she will add to her industrial plant heavy Sudeten industries of strategic importance, but will at the same time render more acute her need for food and raw material imports, information supplied by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce here indicated.

Principal prize will be the world-renowned Skoda munitions works, providing they are not dismantled or destroyed by angered Czechs before the territory is finally surrendered.

The Sudeten area is also noted as one of the important European textile centres. Other manufactures include a wide variety of light consumers' goods such as toys, novelties, imitation jewelry, glassware and porcelain.

But since no raw materials to speak of are produced in this mountainous area, Germany will have to make additional imports or produce additional "arsatz" materials in order to keep the busy Sudeten factories running.

Further, the market for many of these products is expected to be cut. For example, the anti-Nazi boycott in the United States, which has reached effective proportions, will doubtless be extended to include Nazi Sudeten products. Instead of the label, "Made in Czechoslovakia," they will now have to bear the marking "Made in Germany."

Food for the 4,000,000 inhabitants of the region is imported from nearby agricultural areas of Czechoslovakia, as not enough food for the 4,000,000 is grown in Sudetenland. But there will now be, however, an economic barrier separating the Sudetens from their food supply.

A similar situation holds with regard to raw material for the great Skoda works. Some iron is produced in Czechoslovakia, but that comes from the Slovakian districts.

Annexation of Sudetenland therefore recalls German "anschluss" with Austria six months ago, when the Reich added within her borders a country that was an important industrial nation, but was dependent upon the outside world for food supplies.

Since provision of such foods as fats has been a pressing German problem for several years, and attainment of self-sufficiency in other foodstuffs has been attainable only with extreme difficulty, Nazi worries in this respect are increased.

Most of the textile plants in the Sudeten area are for making real, not synthetic fibres. Hence they are even now dependent upon foreign sources for raw materials such as cotton and wool.

Nazi economists working under General Goering, administrator of Germany's economy, may expect difficulty in providing these plants with the necessary raw stuffs. Foreign exchange for purchasing these supplies has until now not been a serious problem for the Czechs, who have found a ready market for their goods. But it is a serious matter to Nazi Germany.

Illinois Voters to State War Views

CHICAGO (AP)—Attitude of Illinois voters toward war will be determined at the November 8 elections. The Illinois referendum is a "public policy" question, the handwork of William Hale (Big Bill) Thompson, former mayor of Chicago. He wants the state to take the unusual step of going on record against participation by the United States in a foreign war.

What do you KNOW about the Petroleum Industries of British Columbia?

We have served you well ... but perhaps too quietly.

In any event, we feel you would like to know more about this important industry, its functions and its problems, because they are of deep concern to all of us in this province.

YOU ARE A CITIZEN of British Columbia, anxious for the advancement of the Province.

We are an industry eager to serve and to share in the tasks of development.

You are proud of British Columbia; you want to see it progress; you want its industries to thrive and expand, so that there may be more opportunities for you and your sons and daughters in this Province now and in the future.

We play an important part in the industrial and economic life of British Columbia and feel we have kept pace with the amazing growth of automobile travel. We believe that we have given outstanding service to British Columbia's industries, its mines, its fisheries, its farms, its lumber camps and its mills, all of which use our products in their operations.

You and we would both be hurt if the development of the industry should be impeded or restricted.

British Columbia is a great industrial Province, with vast resources needing more and more capital for their development, in order that more and more people may have work and more and more goods and services may be purchased. Every industry that develops these resources has exacting and urgent requirements for petroleum products, which must be served.

The development of large areas of this Province is dependent upon the petroleum industry. Over the 356,000 square miles of its territory, along the 7,000 miles of its coast lines, the need for dependable supplies of petroleum fuels and oils is taken care of by thousands of British Columbia workers

In the past, we have told you about our products. Frankly, we admit that perhaps we should have told you more about ourselves and what we are doing, so that you would KNOW our position and be familiar with the fact that the PETROLEUM INDUSTRIES OF BRITISH COLUMBIA are efficient, useful industries, striving to do business on the basis of volume and low costs to the consumer and in every respect comparing favorably with the petroleum industries that serve other parts of the world.

STOCK EXCHANGE STARTS CONTROL

Steps Taken in London to Prevent War Panic in Money Market

LONDON (AP)—The London Stock Exchange was placed under rigid restrictions today to prevent war panic.

Prices control for government securities and high-priced stocks and bonds—the so-called gilt-edged class—was instituted with the opening of the market. Regulation was entirely under direction of the exchange authorities. Dealers quoted minimum prices on a long list of securities which in effect established rock-bottom quotations to prevent an abrupt break in values.

Buying and selling must be done by negotiations within fractions around the minima.

If traders do not like the prices, they do not have to do business. That is exactly the purpose to keep panic sales away from the Stock Exchange.

Effectiveness of the scheme was indicated in early dealings, extremely orderly and without a sign the market was about to "run away."

By PETE SALLAWAY

WILLIE TURNESA compares favorably with all the great former United States amateur golf champions. Turnesa, youngest and only son of the seven famous brothers, is vastly superior as a stylist and a better all-around player than Lawson Little. A recent graduate of Holy Cross University, Turnesa has no intention of turning pro, and should go a long way.

Pittsburgh's treacherous Oakmont course once more proved itself the hardest test in golf. It takes a long game and accurate putting to win there. Turnesa bagged the amateur championship with an exceptionally fine game around and on the greens, just as Sam Parks prevailed in the United States open of 1935, when he toured Oakmont four times without once three-putting a green.

Where Parks, generally speaking, kept out of traps, Turnesa got into them . . . and out. In his final match with Pat Abbott, the movit bit player of Altadena, Cal., Turnesa used only 41 putts on 29 holes, 17 putts under that allowed by par and 11 less than his opponent. Bobby Jones' Calamity Jane never had more charm than the collegian's putter. Although Turnesa failed to reach the green in allotted figures on 16 of the 29 holes of the final round, he was above par on only five, recovering on the others to get birdies or pars.

Nine times did Turnesa find his ball in traps fringing greens. It was here that a recently adopted heavy sand-iron came to his rescue. Only once did he err . . . on the second . . . when he blasted too strongly . . . losing the hole. He turned six of the other eight into one-putt greens, which gave him three winning holes and as many important halves. He two-putted the other two . . . for a loss and a halve. Turnesa is one of the best shot-makers in amateur golf. He has a loose, well-balanced swing.

They said Turnesa lacked length off the tee, but shots of from 240 to 250 yards over Hultop Highlands fairways made heavy by rain cannot be called short. Turnesa's length enabled him to carry a cross bunker in front of the green on the 473-yard 18th hole . . . giving him a four to Abbott's five. Turnesa has the ideal golfing temperament. Nothing ruffled him . . . not even 12 trips into Oakmont traps. Most other golfers would have blown higher than a kite, but despite the numerous hazards, the Elmsford phenomenon toured the tricky course in a medal 74 for the morning round . . . only two above par . . . and 35 for the first nine of the afternoon . . . two under par. He finished 29 holes one above par . . . mighty good golf at Oakmont.

Turnesa's brothers financed his trips to amateur competitions, but this was the first time that they had an opportunity to pull for him in U.S. amateur match play. Willie failed to qualify in other attempts. His brothers urged him to quit caddyding after he was 18 lest he violate the amateur ruling. In addition to the U.S. championship, Turnesa holds the New England intercollegiate, the Westchester amateur, the New York State amateur, and was medalist in the U.S. intercollegiate this year and last.

When you go back into the records, it becomes harder than ever to figure out what may happen in this Pittsburgh Pirates-Chicago Cubs "pennant" series which is bound to make all other baseball take a back seat until it's over.

In the first place, neither has been able to gain a decisive edge in 19 previous encounters this season. The Pirates have a 10 to 9 lead so far and appear in a bit better shape, especially where pitching is concerned, for a tough series.

On the other hand, the records don't prove it will help Pie Traynor much to be able to shoot Jim Tobin, Bob Klinger and Russ Bauers at the Cubs in order. They're his aces, but in 10 starts against Chicago they have won only three games among them and lost five. Only "fireman" Mace Brown has been consistently successful, being credited with three victories in five relief appearances against the Cubs.

Gaby Hartnett, after tossing his No. 1 moundman, Bill Lee, against the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday to gain a 6 to 3 victory that put the Cubs a game and a half behind, decided to take a chance with Dizzy Dean for today's opener.

Lee apparently didn't have to work too hard to beat the Cards. He kept a dozen hits well scattered and never was behind. It was his 21st victory.

The winning and losing streaks of the rivals don't prove much, either. Since August 9, when the Cubs held a 6½ game lead, Pittsburgh has won only half its 46 games and Chicago has won 30 out of 47.

In the only other game yesterday, the New York Yankees began tuning up for the world series by conquering the second-place Boston Red Sox, 4 to 3, on Steve Sundra's good pitching and a three-run rally in the sixth. It was only their second victory in 10 games.

COAST LEAGUE

San Francisco's Seals got into the Coast Baseball League playoffs by virtue of two percentage points on the last scheduled days of play. Sacramento, after leading the league for weeks, wound up in third place.

Tonight those two teams open a seven-game series in the play-off finals with $5,000 prize money and a $500 trophy waiting the winner. Second place will pay $2,500.

First three games of the series will be played in Sacramento tonight, Wednesday and Thursday. The series will then move to San Francisco and resume with a twin bill Sunday.

Seals eliminated the second place Seattle Rainiers and the Sacramento team pushed the pennant-winning Los Angeles Angels out of the picture in the first round of the playoffs last week. Seattle and Los Angeles got $1,250 each.

Tony Freitas, who has beaten the Seals four out of five times this year, will take the mound for the Senators tonight. Bill Shores will oppose him.

Adanacs Lift Boxla Honors

Defeat Nelson 16 to 9 For Second Straight Win and B.C. Title

VANCOUVER—New Westminster's Adanacs won the British Columbia senior lacrosse title last night, crushing Nelson Maple Leafs, 16 to 9, for their second straight victory over the Kootenay representatives in the best-of-three series. They won the first game Friday by 22 to 12.

The Kootenay team made a stronger bid for victory last night, but failed to match the passing and checking of the coast squad. Adanacs outscored the Leafs, 6 to 4, in the opening period and held a 10 to 4 lead at halftime. They continued to outscore Nelson in the third quarter and matched the Leafs' two goals in the final session to record the win.

Gordy Saunders sparked the Adanacs to victory with five goals and one assist, while Fred Graves, with three goals, was best for Nelson.

Nelson marked up the first goal of the game, a hard drive by Pete Bonnevillie on a pass two minutes after the start. But Adanacs came back with five straight tallies by Lloyd Steele, Gordy Saunders, Bob Lee, "Punk" Kennedy and Ted Bradbury before the Leafs found the net again.

NELSON—Richmond Point Grey won the British Columbia junior lacrosse championship last night by trouncing Nelson-Trail, 16 to 8, for their second straight victory in a best-of-three playoff series. The Vancouver squad won the opener Saturday, 21 to 11.

WINNIPEG—Elmwood Pats took a one-game lead in the Manitoba senior lacrosse final last night, defeating Winnipeg Wellingtons 9 to 8.

MONTREAL—In peak form after a hard series, which saw them eliminate Montreal Canadiens for the championship of Quebec, Cornwall seniors prepared today for the next step in Mann Cup lacrosse playdowns—their best-of-three series with St. Catharines Athletics for the eastern Canadian title.

Cornwall defeated Canadiens 14 to 10 in the deciding game last night.

SOCCER IN VICTORIA

To the Sports Editor: In regard to further developments over the proposed entry of the Elks Football Club into soccer in this city, I would appreciate it if you would publish the following:

In fairness to the public and the players we feel the following facts should be placed before them:

Sunday afternoon a committee from the Elks Football Club, composed of Messrs. Yoxall, Bloomfield and Hall, called on the undersigned with the following ultimatum—that the Saturday Football League appoint the first two mentioned men to the position of president and secretary of the league, and Hall as manager of the Victoria United Football Club.

This ultimatum was to expire at 7 Monday night. Failing acceptance of this scheme they would affiliate under the name of the Elks Football Club, and proposed to sign as many of the players of the Victoria United Football Club as possible.

We leave it to the public and players to judge for themselves whether the high ideals so publicly propounded by them: "That they were in soccer for the love of the game and lift it to a higher level."

Is this not a case of holding a gun at the head of the league? Or is it their idea of co-operation and helping to improve soccer? Players who are considering signing would be well advised to wait further developments before placing their name on any form.

J. F. MESHER.

Secretary, Victoria and District Football League.

Unusual Spectators

YARRAM, Australia (CP)—When members of the Yarram Golf Club take to the links it is not unusual to see kangaroos browsing quietly on a fairway. Koalas and, occasionally, emus are seen.

Woolley Retires

FOLKESTONE, Eng.—One of the most popular cricketers in England, Frank Woolley, 51-year-old Kent left-hander, is retiring after 32 years as a first-class professional.

SETS GOLF MARATHON—Joe Franco, Northwestern University student and nephew of the Spanish insurgent general, blasts his way out of a sand trap in a marathon to end all golfing marathons at Techny Fields, Chicago. That motor scooter parked close by was the medium by which Franco was able to play 301 holes in one day. His lowest score for the par 72 course for the first 15 rounds was 69, and the highest 76. Franco was runner-up in the Chicago public links championship last spring and participated in the Western Open.

Wins Five Straight

His Selection, $50 Horse, Completes Fine Record as Willows Meet Closes; Nannafan Cops Derby

The horse that T. I. Mason is reported to have paid $50 for only a few weeks ago, His Selection, won his fifth straight race at the Willow race track yesterday, as the thoroughbred racing season came to a close for another year in British Columbia. The six-year-old son of Twink Barstow won the opening gallop by four lengths, never being pressed, and it gave him five wins and a second as his record for the meeting.

Greenrocks Stable's Nannafan, a three-year-old filly by African Nannie, Frances made her record nearly as good by capturing the Victoria Derby at one mile and a sixteenth for her fourth in a row. Only two of these wins were at the Victoria meeting, however.

A. Y. Mayland's Dr. Pook, also trying for his fourth straight, missed, but only by a neck, when he ran second in the Final Handicap to the good Vancouver Island bred filly, Some Turley, with H. M. Fullerton's Be Mine only a nose back in third place. Some Turley was bred at Nanaimo, and is a full sister to the sterling runners Big Pine and Maize B.

SPORRI STARS
But it was Jockey Emil Sporri who really stole the show on the closing day. The popular Swiss veteran, who copied the riding honors of the meeting and won a set of silver fox furs presented by Foster's Fur Store, came home in front four times and put his three other mounts in the show position. A. E. Alexander presented Sporri with the jockey's prize after the feature race.

Burke Holds Lead

Former U.S. Open Champion Sets Pace in Westchester Golf With 72-hole Scores of 286

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y.—Plodding Billy Burke kept playing them straight down the middle yesterday at the Fenway Golf Club and wound up still entrenched as leader in the $13,500 Westchester 108-hole open golf tournament.

Shooting a morning-round 75 and an afternoon 72, the 1931 U.S. open champion from Cleveland rounded the 72-hole mark with a score of 286, six shots over par and two shots ahead of the field.

Nearest to him in this close but high-scoring race for $5,000 first prize were Professional Golfing Association champion Paul Runyan, 1937 P.G.A. runner-up, Jug McSpaden and Mike Turnesa, one of the six pro brothers of United States amateur champion Willie Turnesa.

Evidence against the sickness and bumpiness of Fenway's greens was overwhelming after the day's play, when 63 golfers with score of 306 or better qualified for today's final 36-hole fling. The 83 who played yesterday, among them virtually all the best pros, were, on an average, 21 strokes over par for their 72 holes.

Boxla Teams Decide Title

Bluebirds and James Bay Battle for City Crown Tonight

Bluebirds and James Bay, two smart intermediate box lacrosse aggregations, will clash tonight at the Athletic Park in the crucial match of their best-of-three series. The game will be played under floodlights, starting at 8.

With the city championship at stake tonight, both squads will field their strongest squads, and plenty of action should be the order. The Bluebirds won the opening clash, 13 to 8, but the Bays came back fighting hard in the second engagement to nose through with a 12 to 11 decision.

Popham and Baker will referee. James Bay line-up follows: E. McKim, W. Allan, R. Winterburn, A. Cullin, E. Pridham, R. Clark, R. Mason, C. Thomas, J. Sargent, S. Clark, B. Dakers, A. McKim, F. Sargent and D. Turner.

RUGGERS DISCUSS ROUTINE MATTERS

Delegates and members of the executive of the Victoria Rugby Union discussed routine matters at a meeting yesterday in the Colonnist board room. Further plans were made for the benefit dance to be held at the Empress Hotel later this year and matters pertaining to organization of referees and playing rules were discussed.

C. E. Ley, chairman of the referees' board, announced following the meeting that for the next three weeks meetings will be held in the Colonnist boardroom on Thursday evenings. The meetings are open to all former referees and those interested in becoming officials on the rugby pitch.

WENSTOB-TEBO IN RETURN GO

EDMONTON—Jack Tebo, the slashing farmer from Fairview, Alta., will have 15 rounds tonight to prove whether he can outbox, outslug or knock out Eddie Wenstob, the clever Viking, Alta., light-heavyweight, who was awarded a unanimous decision when they met here over 10 rounds May 3.

Wenstob, who piled up a big margin in points through the first eight rounds of their previous go, is admitted to be the better boxer. But Tebo, with the approximately a 10-pound pull in the weights and a more potent knockout wallop, claims he will have the advantage over the longer distance.

The fight will be the first for Wenstob since his last meetings with Tebo.

Tebo, who has done most of his training around Fairview, expects to weigh in around 195 with Wenstob at about 186.

FOOTBALL GAMES BILLED TOMORROW

The four teams in the Victoria Wednesday Football League will swing into action in the Pendry Cup race tomorrow afternoon when a double-header program is presented at the Athletic Park.

The first match of the day, at 2:30, will bring together the two store rivals, Spencers and Hudson's Bay, while Navy and Victoria City will meet in the second portion of the program.

Shrimpton will referee the first game and Cull the second.

Spencers—Rowe, McMillan, Gent, Cann, Bradley, Clark, Raeside, Brown, Murray, Purdy, Waters, Gent, Buyatt and Knowles.

Westies and Elks Teams Affiliate

At a meeting of the local committee of the British Columbia Football Commission last night, the applications of Victoria Westies, last year's first division champions, and the Victoria Elks Football Club, for affiliation with the provincial organization, were the only two team entries made. The Wednesday League affiliated as a body, but nothing was heard from Saanich Thistles, Victoria City and Esquimalt.

Dominoes Fail to Affiliate

Entry List Extended For Week; Three Senior A Men's Squads

Prospects for an outstanding basketball season were rosy today with 22 teams entered in the various divisions of the Victoria and District League. That number signified their intention of competing for championships at a largely-attended meeting held last night at the Y.M.C.A.

However, the meeting produced two outstanding facts. First, three entries were received for the men's senior A division. Second, the Dominoes, long the outstanding men's club in the city, failed to file their entry.

The new outfits are the Royals, Victorians and Northwestern Creamery. In order to give the Dominoes a chance to affiliate with the league it was decided to extend the closing date for entries one week. League officials stated today that would be dead line, and if the Dominoes did not come in by October 3 they would be out.

Royals, who will be managed by "Collic" Chambers, will be composed of a large number of last year's Liberty Cafe team with additions. The Northwestern Creamery will be last year's Canadian Scottish, holders of the island intermediate A title, and coached by Carl Coates, a former member of the Dominoes. The Victorians will be handled by George Gordon, who last season managed the Kingham-Gillespie squad. All three clubs are reported to have lined up their players and are ready to get started.

MEETING TONIGHT
Tonight the executive of the league, along with the executive of the Dominoes, will meet a committee of the Victoria School Board in an effort to settle the question of just who will use the High School gym on certain nights. The Dominoes are seeking control of the gym on Saturday nights for their major engagements, again out-of-town clubs, while the league is anxious to have use of the playing floor on some Saturdays. It is hoped to settle the question tonight.

It was left in the hands of the executive to appoint a committee of three to handle the administration of referees during the coming season.

During last night's meeting Pete Maffeo, Nanaimo, newly-elected president of the Vancouver Island Basketball Association, addressed the delegates and guaranteed the support of the island body to the local league during the coming season.

George Gordon, league delegate to the annual meeting of the British Columbia Basketball Association, gave a report on the recent session, and Secretary Walter Yeamans reported the annual meeting of the island association held in Nanaimo Sunday.

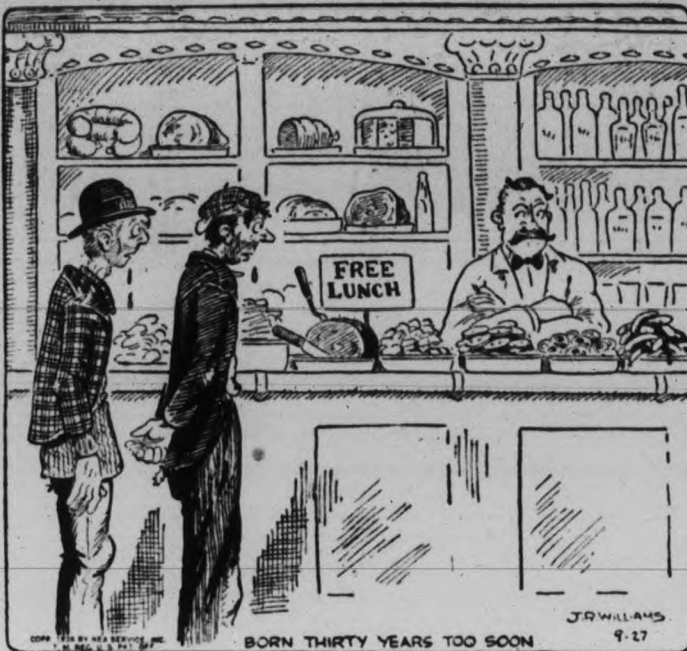

The complete list of entries follows:

Famous People of the Stage

2—EDWIN BOOTH

Ten years before the outbreak of the Civil War, the state of Maryland could boast of a great actor—Junius Brutus Booth. Although he was English-born and had won his first success on the London stage, he had been in the United States for 30 years and had reared a family in Maryland.

In New York Booth owned a theatre, and managed a company. It was a good company, but he was the best actor, the star who caused crowds to come to the plays.

One of Booth's sons was Edwin, a youth of 18. He had taken a few small parts on the stage, and had shown some talent, but no one knew whether he ever could follow his father's footsteps. Then came a night when his father suddenly pushed him into a leading part, the part of King Richard III.

It happened in this way. The carriage came for the elder Booth one evening, to take him to the theatre, but he said to his son, "I can't go tonight. I don't feel well enough. You go and take my place."

What a thing to say to an 18-year-old boy, and what a thing for a boy to have to do! He often had listened to his father play King Richard, and knew the words by heart, but how he must have felt as the carriage rolled toward the theatre!

A crowded house saw a young King Richard walk upon the stage, not the actor they had come to watch. They heard a voice, a different voice, speak the lines—but it was a rich voice, a voice with power and fire. At the end there was an outburst of applause, and the young actor was called back for the audience to see him again.

That success did not mean Edwin was at once to take the place of his father. He had done well, but there were many things still to learn. Soon afterward he went to California and appeared on the stage. He acted in Nevada as well as in California, and even made a journey to Australia.

The rest of Edwin Booth's stage career is too long to tell much about. He returned to the eastern part of the United States, acted in Richmond, Washington and New York, and won greater success than his father had known. For 100 nights in succession he played "Hamlet" in New York. Later he acted in Europe for two years, and everywhere he went people called him one of the great.

Although his success grew, his life was marked with one sorrow after another. His father died when Edwin was only 19. Later his brother, John Wilkes Booth, shocked the world by shooting President Lincoln. Still later he built a theatre costing $750,000 in New York, spending more money than the business could stand. It seemed he could never hope to get out of debt, but he made a tour, as far as California, and in one year made enough to pay most of what he owed. He died in New York in 1893, a brave man who had not let ill fortune keep him down.

HOROSCOPE

Wednesday, September 28, 1938. Dominated by a strongly benefic aspect, this should be a fortunate day for many persons who possess power or wealth. The stars favor those who have places in the sun.

It is a lucky date for seeking employment, and should be auspicious for young men and women armed with recommendations. The rule favors the privileged.

The stars presage higher degrees of proficiency in all branches of wage-earning vocations. The mediocre white collar employee will be discarded as thoroughly trained workers are obtained.

High winds and floods will cause damage in many parts of the country through the autumn. Earthquakes may be numerous. This is a time for householders to repair roofs and to safeguard cellars.

Food preparation should occupy special attention. Many cases of poisoning through contamination of meats, vegetables and beverages are prognosticated. Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of fairly good fortune. Business journeys are presaged for both men and women.

Children born on this day probably will be strong in mind and body. These subjects of Libra have a keen sense of justice and may be stubborn.

Oklahoma City has remodeled 800 of its street corners to make it easier for automobiles to turn right.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young man trying to decide between two careers, one as a lawyer, the other as a musician. My parents are very anxious for me to become a lawyer, but music is part of me and I do not feel that I could ever be happy following anything else. Of course, law has its advantages in that I am sure of a good living after I have graduated. Music has not that assurance, but it would bring me happiness. Should personal happiness be sacrificed for my family and I be dissatisfied for the remainder of my life?

UNDECIDED.

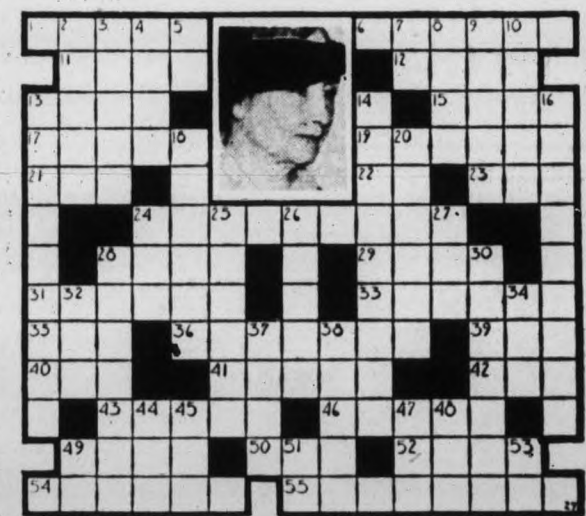

Answer: That question no one can decide but yourself. Generally speaking, a man should follow the line of work which he finds most congenial—the thing for which Nature designed him—because in that he not only finds happiness, but makes a success. Very few people ever do well at any labor that is distasteful to them. To achieve anything worthwhile we have to put not only our backs, but our hearts into it, and have it fill our thoughts by day and our dreams by night and be the one thing of greatest interest to us.

Nothing is truer than the famous saying of Stevenson that "he who finds work to do, which he follows without any regard for the reward, but for his love of it and the pleasure he has in doing it, is called of God."

But before you make your decision between law and music you must see your parents' point of view, and that is that if you do not go about some money-making occupation the chances are that they will have to support you for many years—perhaps for always—and you have no right to lay that burden upon them.

It is a pity that before you devote yourself to music you cannot find out whether your talents for it are as great as your love for it. There are so many near-genius who waste their whole lives in attempting to do things for which they have no gift, who work and strive to reach heights they have not the ability to attain and die embittered and disappointed.

Try to take a dispassionate inventory of yourself and find out whether you have a God-given genius or not, and whether you have the courage and the self-denial and the patience to follow the long and hard road that the musician must tread before he reaches success. But which ever decision you make, here's wishing you luck, DOROTHY DIX.

School Pupils in London Prepared for Possible Air Raids

LONDON (CP)—The safety of schoolchildren in the event of air raids in a possible clash of European powers was the subject of conferences between parents and the London school authorities today.

An official said: "Plans for the evacuation of children under the authority of the London County Council are all ready. Children would be evacuated in school units. The schools will know today from which London station they would set out in time of emergency."

The demand for gasoline rose sharply, companies reporting they were piled up with orders from garages. There has been no hint as yet from the government concerning possible restrictions.

Plans were under way for removal of art treasures from London galleries in the event of an emergency and the basements of some galleries were strengthened for storage purposes.

LEAVE HOSPITALS

Policemen went from door to door with instructions how to darken windows in air raid blackouts. Patients able to continue convalescing at home left hospitals.

Everything imaginable was turned into air raid shelters. Workers sealed the wine cellar at Windsor Castle. They started making a shelter out of the Mews of Buckingham Palace. They barricaded railroad tunnels, old caves along the south coast, church crypts and bank vaults.

Volunteers in cities reported to public buildings for work on auxiliary fire brigades.

In another, workers started painting over street lamps. In a third, light current was reduced by half.

People in London hurried to buy reserve supplies of canned foods, flour and sugar. Rents of country cottages, which normally drop at this time of the year, have gone up.

Trials Ordered In Riot Case

Eight Committed for Blubber Bay Affair; Others Remanded

VANCOUVER (CP)—Magistrate C. L. Filmore in district police court yesterday committed eight men to stand trial on charges of unlawful assembly arising from a labor riot at Blubber Bay in which a dozen persons were injured.

The magistrate remanded seven others till Friday for preliminary hearing, and acquitted William Bushby of unlawful assembly. Charges against Roy and Robert Maylor and Robert Daniels were withdrawn by the Crown.

Magistrate Filmore refused to issue summonses for six British Columbia police officers on charges of unlawful assembly in connection with the fracas on a wharf at the Texada Island town September 17.

The trouble started between strikers and employees of the Pacific Lime Company plant, partially strike-bound for several months. Police were forced to use riot sticks and tear-gas to disperse the crowd.

Information for the police summonses charging the police constables with unlawful assembly were sworn by John Hole, secretary of the Blubber Bay Local of the International Woodworkers of America, a Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate. Hole himself faces a charge of unlawful assembly.

In refusing the summonses, Magistrate Filmore said police officers in uniform who are carrying out their duty, cannot be guilty of unlawful assembly.

Constitutional Ruling Urged
 MONTREAL (CP)—The Dominion Government should refer constitutional issues to the Supreme Court of Canada and the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London as soon as possible to ascertain its jurisdiction in social legislation, Hon. C. H. Cahan, former Secretary of State, told a service club here today.

An "imperative need" had arisen for "clearer judicial declarations so that a legal basis may be established for the satisfactory solution of pressing social problems," said the Montreal Conservative M.P.

There was "an insistent and increasing demand that the federal treasury should assume entirely the costs of unemployment relief. . . . But we must first consider whether under the existing constitution of this country, the parliament of Canada may lawfully impose federal taxes . . . for the relief of the unemployed and the indigent."

MacNeil's Views on Canada and War

VANCOUVER (CP)—The moment war is declared by Great Britain, Canada automatically becomes a belligerent country, C. Grant MacNeil, C.C.F., member of Parliament for North Vancouver, told a party meeting here.

"Canada has long since lost the right to choose her own course in this regard, mainly because we have never stated our policy and are now tied up with Great Britain in such a way that we have no freedom of choice," he said.

Mr. MacNeil said the "mistakes" of the last war showed it would be "sheer lunacy" for Canada to attempt to send an expeditionary force abroad in the event of an external war, and Canada should take a firm stand against any military participation.

Ms. Aorangi will call at Victoria before putting to sea.

Hitler Speech Pleases Hungary
 HIS APPEAL IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA WELCOMED IN BUDAPEST

BUDAPEST (AP)—Hungarian newspapers expressed enthusiasm today for Chancellor Hitler's address on Czechoslovakia "because Hitler also appealed to the world for 1,000,000 suffering Magyars in Czechoslovakia."

Jugoslavia seemed mildly pleased by Hitler's speech yesterday, when the Fuehrer declared the Sudeten areas must be given over to him before October 1.

The comment was heard in Belgrade that "the last hour of peace, expected in Europe yesterday, was thereby postponed for days, if not for years."

The Romanian newspaper, Timpu, was one of several Balkan publications which said the world was "fully united behind President Roosevelt in the opinion that peace must be preserved."

The Jugoslavia semi-official paper, Politika, observed that Hitler could no longer demand additional territory in Europe. The newspaper expressed the fear, however, that Soviet Russia might not be included in Hitler's statement that he would have no further demands in Europe besides Sudetenland.

"Germany considers that Russia is not a part of Europe," the paper said.

High school students of grades 11 and 12 gathered in the Assembly Hall to hear the broadcast of the speech of Prime Minister Chamberlain.

Little Hope Seen in Speech

British Newspapers Voice Views on Results of Hitler's Address

LONDON (CP)—The Manchester Guardian, Liberal, today took a pessimistic view of Chancellor Hitler's speech in Berlin last night.

"There is no comfort to be derived from Hitler's speech," the newspaper declared. "He suggests no further negotiations and opens no path that might yet lead to peace."

"We must wait for a day or two to discover whether, when none threatens him and when all he could reasonably ask is being peacefully offered him, he will be evil enough to plunge the world into war."

Recalling the reoccupation of the Rhineland and the seizure of Austria, the Western Mail of Cardiff, Conservative, commented: "Hitler's whole career is strewn with broken pledges and falsified assurances, and on latest information, there is no reason to suppose his latest pronouncement is any more reliable. We are dealing with a political booby constrictor masquerading as a dove of peace. And the powers must scotch it now or run a grave risk of being scotched themselves."

The London News-Chronicle, Liberal, said that "perhaps when Parliament meets tomorrow it will present the spectacle of a united and adamant British nation which will make Herr Hitler pause even on the brink, before plunging his country and most of Europe into the calamity of war."

Prayers Offered For World Peace

Responding to a general call to prayer throughout the world, issued at the week-end by Pope Pius in Rome, the congregation of St. Andrew's Cathedral is at present engaged in the 40 hours' devotion to the Blessed Sacrament.

The devotion started at the High Mass on Sunday and will end this evening with Solemn Benediction. There have been high masses each morning, with special prayers for the peace of the world.

Rev. Father A. B. Wood, who served overseas during the last war as Catholic chaplain in France, spoke on the need of prayer in the present crisis, during the service last night. He gave it as his opinion that many of the present troubles of the world were caused by lack of faith and a failure to ask the blessing of God on worldly undertakings.

SCHOOL CONTROL UNIT ADVOCATED

Dr. V. L. Denton Tells Kiwanis Club Advantages Of Amalgamation

Amalgamation of Victoria, Saanich, Esquimalt and Oak Bay in a unit for school administration was advocated by Dr. V. L. Denton, principal of the Provincial Normal School here, in an address to the Kiwanis Club today.

The speaker said that there was a movement across Canada for larger units in school administration.

In British Columbia the plan was first tried in the Peace River district during 1934-35. Other sections, as a result, had soon sought the larger school administration areas. Dr. Denton traced the various formations of such sections in the province since that time and said on Vancouver Island there was room for a possible three large units.

Walter Walker thanked the speaker. Jack MacFarlane was in the chair. Mrs. Arthur Dowell sang several selections accompanied by Mrs. C. Conyers.

Witness Tells Of Bren Plans

Machinery Designed 3½ Years Ago, Dominion Commission Told

OTTAWA (CP)—Specifications for machinery required in a small arms factory were prepared by Lieut. M. P. Jolley of the National Defence Department in January and February of 1936, nearly a year before the department received the first offer from Major J. E. Hahn of Toronto to manufacture Bren machine guns, the Bren inquiry was told today.

Lieut. Jolley, small arms expert in the ordnance branch, gave this information during his testimony before the royal commission, headed by Sir Justice H. H. Davis of the Supreme Court of Canada, investigating the contract between the Canadian government and the John Inglis Company of Toronto for 7,000 Bren guns.

Major Hahn is head of the Inglis Company. Yesterday Lieut. Jolley said the first proposal from Hahn was made in December, 1936.

The specification were filed with the commission. The witness said he had made them while in England studying the manufacture of arms and intended them for future reference. He returned to Canada in August 1936, and in September drew up plans for a self-contained small arms factory which would be suitable for the production of Bren guns as well as rifles and other arms.

DREW ARTICLE

The inquiry was ordered following publication of a magazine article by Lieut. Col. George Drew, Toronto lawyer, criticizing features of the contract.

Hon. J. L. Ralston, government counsel, filed a report made by Lieut. Jolley on a conference between Major Hahn and Defence Department headquarters officers on December 7, 1937, after other counsel agreed to the deletion of a paragraph considered confidential.

The report said: "Major Hahn on his return from England, outlined his report on the possibilities and estimates for the production of the Bren light machine gun in Canada, the under-mentioned officers being present—Major-General A. C. Caldwell, Col. E. J. Renaud, Col. G. R. Turner, Lieut. Col. D. E. Dewar, Major G. P. Morrison, Lieut. M. P. Jolley."

Major Hahn had spent approximately one month in England and had interviewed Sir Thomas Inskip and other high officials of the War Office.

Minesweeper Launched

Crowds See H.M.C.S. Nootka Take Water at Esquimalt; Two Yarrow Parties Follow

History was made in old Esquimalt yesterday when the first naval ship ever built in the naval harbor there was launched with prayers and good wishes, cheers and the tooting of many whistles.

Promptly at 3 Mrs. E. W. Hamber, wife of His Honor the Lieut. Governor, who stood beside her, cracked a bottle of Empire champagne over the bow of H.M.C.S. Nootka, new Canadian Government minesweeper, as she started down the ways into the waters of the harbor.

Mrs. Hamber aimed well, for the champagne bubbled forth with one blow and its broken neck hung to its red, white and blue silk ribbons as the vessel went away.

The ceremony was perfect in every detail and a large crowd thrilled to the unusual sight, for it has been many years since a ship of her size was launched from a local yard.

Hundreds of persons watched the launching, in wonderful autumn weather. They crowded the shipyard and the rocky shore on the other side of Lang Cove where they were best able to see the ship hit the water with a great splash. Every vantage point held its quota of interested, cheering spectators.

Preparations for the launching were interesting and recalled to many of the spectators similar scenes they had seen in the British Isles when great ships were launched.

There was the sound of hammers; workmen stood to their posts, some of them on the ship's deck for the short ride down to the water.

The sponsor, when given the signal, cut a ribbon which released a trigger, which, in turn, released the ship.

Away she went, gathering speed as she slid along the ways. The crowd surged forward to see her take the water and as she did so they gave a great cheer.

His Honor and Mrs. Hamber were received by Norman A. Yarrow, head of the pioneer firm which built the Nootka, and Mrs. Yarrow, Miss Verian Yarrow, their younger daughter, presented the Government House chateau with a bouquet of red roses, tied with red silk ribbon.

Rev. Arthur Bischofberger, pastor of St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church read the Anglican prayers for the launching of ships and the psalm "Those that go down to the sea in ships and occupy their business in great waters." He led the gathering in The Lord's Prayer.

On the high rocks of the Naval Barracks, across the harbor, a group of Canadian sailors gave three rousing cheers as the flagbedecked Nootka hit the water and their echoes were heard for several seconds.

Nootka, which experts agree is a beautifully built ship, took the water on even keel and was then nosed into her berth by a waiting tugboat. She is worthy in every detail of the name of Yarrow, whose workmen have turned out so many fine products here and in England.

Following the launching the Yarrow firm entertained their employees, with their wives and families and other guests at two receptions, one in the firm's offices and the other in the torpedo building at the Naval Barracks. Mr. and Mrs. Yarrow receiving the guests.

Speaking briefly, Mr. Yarrow thanked Mrs. Hamber for officiating and said he was sure success would follow any ship started on its career by so charming a lady. He praised his men for their good work and painstaking interest and called for a toast to H.M.C.S. Nootka.

He then presented Mrs. Hamber with a small silver tray, suitably inscribed and a pair of antique candle snuffers as a memento of the occasion.

Nootka is the fourth and last of the new minesweepers built this year for the Canadian Government. Two were built in eastern Canada and a third, H.M.C.S. Comox, at Vancouver. She and the Nootka will be stationed in Esquimalt Harbor.

Nootka, which is 150 feet in length and whose launching weight was 275 tons, will be ready for her trial runs in about five weeks. Her engine and boiler will be installed in a few days.

There will be two departures this week from Victoria for distant ports on other sides of the Pacific.

Tomorrow Ms. Aarangi will clear for sea, bound for the Hawaiian and Fiji Islands, New Zealand and Australia. She will carry 550 passengers.

On Saturday Ss. Empress of Russia will leave for Japan, China and the Philippine Islands, also carrying a large number of travelers.

Ss. Princess Kathleen went into the Dominion Government drydock at Esquimalt this morning for overhaul by Yarrow's Limited. She will return to the triangle run in a few days, relieving Princess Charlotte, which is now taking her place.

Ss. Princess Maquinnia is along-side the V.M.D. plant in the upper inner harbor for overhaul, preparatory to taking over the west coast of Vancouver Island service for the winter months.

British freighter Templeyard is expected by King Brothers at Ogden Point tomorrow morning to load for the United Kingdom. Thursday morning will see the arrival of Ss. Sinnington Court, which will take a parcel of lumber for Australia.

On her maiden voyage to waters of the Pacific Northwest, the new Norwegian motorship Mosfrut passed off the water-front during the night, bound for Seattle. She is new and revolutionary in design and attracted a great deal of attention at the ports she visited on her way up the Pacific Coast.

Supplies for Flooded Areas

MONTREAL—Perishable and other foodstuffs for the relief of the population within a large section of the flooded areas of New England are being moved to Boston and other cities at the rate of 200 cars a day through the Portland gateway made available by the lines of the Canadian National Railways.

This vitally necessary movement began last Thursday when the Canadian National handled the first 200 cars of this emergency movement following arrangements effected through the office of N. B. Walton, vice-president in charge of operations, and will continue as long as the emergency exists.

These foodstuffs, consisting of meats and dairy produce, come from points in Minnesota with packers' products from Chicago and Buffalo. Normally a considerable traffic originates on the lines of the Grand Trunk Western and comes on to Canadian National rails headed towards New England. The disruption of ordinary services, however, severed the normal route, but the Canadian National line to Portland, Maine, offered a gateway through which to move the normal and additional traffic.

Foodstuffs are thus being sent into the city of Boston and its immediate vicinity, points on New England lines between Portland and Worcester, Portland and Boston, Boston and Lowell and Boston and Fitchburg.

On the return westbound movement 2,000 tons of freight is going to Portland and there handed over to the Canadian National.

Large quantities of milk for Boston and vicinity are being handled from Vermont by passenger trains also operating over the Canadian National into Portland. This situation had been seriously upset owing to delay in returning empty milk cans, which, if continued, would have resulted in loss of the milk through lack of facilities. That condition was relieved when the Canadian National was enabled to carry a large supply of empty milk cans to Vermont points, and it is hoped to maintain this service until the flood conditions subside and the normal routes are again in use.

The Canadian National Railways continues to maintain passenger service between Montreal and Boston in both directions, but arrangements are being made only from day to day. With the change from daylight saving time to usual eastern standard time in Montreal, the night passenger train with through cars for Boston left Bonaventure Station Sunday night at 9.30.

Romantic Comedy At The Capitol

Smartly dialogued, brimming with laughs, and offering finished and believable characterizations by such stellar performers as Janet Gaynor, Robert Montgomery and Franchot Tone.

"Three Loves Has Nancy" opened today at the Capitol Theatre as one of the most refreshing and original romantic comedies seen here in some time.

The story is that of a flippant novelist who gets into difficulties with a Broadway actress. In an endeavor to escape the overtures of the too eager admirer, he persuades his publisher to send him on a lecture tour. He meets Nancy.

Janet Gaynor is excellent as the small-town girl who puts trust in her newly-found metropolitan friends. Montgomery plays the debonair novelist to the hilt, and Tone is ideally cast as the somewhat bibulous publisher.

"Professor Beware" Coming to Atlas

Harold Lloyd returns tomorrow to the Atlas Theatre in his latest comedy, "Professor Beware." In this story of a down-and-out archaeologist in search of a job, Lloyd has surrounded himself with an able supporting cast that includes Raymond Walburn, Lionel Stander, William Frawley, Cora Witherspoon, and his brand new leading lady, Phyllis Welch.

Hilarious hijinks are in order when Lloyd starts a screwy cross-country jaunt in search of a job. It seems that Lloyd, employed as an Egyptologist in a museum, loses his pants... and his job, in order to help a beautiful girl, Miss Welch, get a screen test.

Allowance Made In Film Contest

Movie fans who have entered the $250,000 movie quiz sponsored by Motion Pictures' Greatest Year need not be concerned about the five errors that a check-up has revealed in the contest booklet. These errors involve the answers on the following pictures: "Gateway," "The Texans," "The Crowd Roars," "Girls on Probation" and "Give Me a Sailor." The errors came about in various ways, some of them typographical, and others occurred because the pictures themselves were not completed at the time the movie quiz booklets were published. When the pictures eventually reached the screen the answers to the questions could not be made in the way the contest booklet suggested.

Because of these errors the campaign committee has decided that no matter what answer is made by the contestants to these five pictures than answer will be adjudged correct by the contest judges. In other words the campaign committee makes a present of five answers out of the 30 required to qualify for participation in the $250,000 worth of prizes.

"The Gladiator" is based on the sensational novel of the same title by Philip Wylie.

OAK BAY THEATRE

Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is a modest young man, but there is one thing that makes him beam with pride. He is acknowledged by Hollywood to be the only man in screen history to steal a scene from Theodore Roberts, legendary veteran of silent film days.

Fairbanks, while acting the star masculine role in Universal's "The Rage of Paris," now at the Oak Bay Theatre, told his co-star, Danielle Darrieux, that friends dared him to try and steal a scene from Roberts. He succeeded, and has never tried to steal another.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Sylvia Sidney, one of the film colony's most indefatigable, knitting enthusiasts, combined business with pleasure on the set for Samuel Goldwyn's "Dead End," which co-stars her with Joel McCrea at the Columbia Theatre, and knitted three sweaters during the filming of the picture. Many of the scenes required her to be at work with the needles.

"Dead End" was directed by William Wyler for release through United Artists.

PLAZA THEATRE

Charles Boyer is the man in the lives of both Sigrid Gurie and Hedy Lamarr in "Algiers," Walter Wanger's colorful romantic melodrama, which is now at the Plaza Theatre.

One penny, invested at 5 per cent, simple interest, in the year 3036 B.C., would be worth about $2.50 today; but, had it been invested at 5 per cent, compound interest, it would be valued at the staggering figure of $1,329,212, plus 96 ciphers!
